Bill Makers Close Shop

Washington (AP) — A bickering bone-weary Congress adjourned its unproductive post-Convention session Thursday night with the Senate locked in controversy almost to the very end.

The House shut up shop at 6:52 p.m. EDT, officially ending the post-convention session of the 86th Congress.

The Senate stayed around for another 5 hours, finally calling it quits at 11:51 p.m. —just 9 minutes before a midnight deadline stipulated in an adjournment resolution adopted earlier.

It talked some more and disposed of some business not requiring House concurrence.

Embroiled

The Senate's departure was delayed when it became embroiled in a hassle over a proposal to provide $150,000 more for a watchdog subcommittee to check on whether radio and TV stations give fair treatment in political broadcasts this campaign year.

Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois and some southerners fought the proposal.

Things ground to a halt when opponents of the watchdog subcommittee's radio-TV inquiry demanded a quorum call and it was found that a majority wasn't present.

A majority finally was rounded up after more than 3 hours.

Glancing at the clock, Sen. Ralph Yarborough (D-Tex), chairman of the watchdog subcommittee, conceded there wasn't time for a vote, so he withdrew the resolution asking for the $150,000.

In the remaining few minutes, Senate Democratic leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas delivered his traditional windup speech which had particular significance this year because he is his party's vice presidential nominee.

In his speech, Johnson recited what he contended were the achievements of the Democratic-controlled Congress while Republican President Dwight D. Eisenhower has been in office.

Bill Dies

With the end of the session died a bill that would have armed President Eisenhower with powers he sought to cut or erase a special 322,000-ton sugar quota assigned to the Dominican Republic, now an outcast nation in the Western hemisphere.

The House and Senate remained stubbornly at odds over the extent of authority Eisenhower should be given.

Eisenhower deplored the death of the bill, but gave no sign he would recall Congress to have another try. He said failure to act on the legislation creates an "extremely serious" situation.

To the very end, the Senate stood fast for its version which would have given Eisenhower a free hand. And to the very end the House insisted on its version, which would have imposed conditions administration spokesmen said were impossible.

Unlikely

Barring an unlikely special session, the new 87th Congress will convene on Jan. 3.

This post-convention session, which began Aug. 8, was held in a politically charged election year atmosphere. As many predicted, it produced much Republican-Democratic squabbling but little legislation.

On this last day, members of the two chambers showed their nerves were frayed by an almost-all-night session. Each side accused the other of bull-headedness over the sugar issue.

Goodwill

But before the end, the partisan quarreling gave way to the traditional compliments and expressions of goodwill.

House members on both sides of the aisle joined in 3 separate standing ovations for speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex), now winding up his 24th term in Congress.

House Democratic leader John W. McCormack of Massachusetts had warm words of praise for House Republican leader Charles Halleck of Indiana.

Bogged Down

The argument on which the Senate bogged down involved a resolution to add $150,000 to $35,000 already given a subcommittee on freedom of communications.

Sen. Ralph Yarborough (D-Tex), its chairman, said the resolution's purpose was to assure that candidates for office receive even handed treatment from radio and TV stations and networks.

Heading the opposition was Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, who said the watchdog subcommittee's inquiry would be a political witchhunt.

Dwindled

The Senate's attendance had dwindled considerably, and opponerts of the resolution demanded a quorum call. This showed less than a majority was on hand, and the sergeant-at-arms went out rounding up Senators.

For an hour and a half, clerks slowly read the names of Senators and the required 50 could not be produced. Leaders kept trying, with an eye on the clock and an approaching midnight deadline.

The sugar bill was doomed when the Senate refused to abandon its version giving Eisenhower unhampered authority to cut or abolish a special Dominican sugar quota of 322,000 tons, and the House insisted on its version which spelled out conditions unacceptable to the Eisenhower administration.

Unhappy

As the Senate adopted the adjournment resolution, Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said the President "is very unhappy" that a Senate-House stalemate failed to give him flexible authority to end purchases of sugar from the Dominican Republic, which has been censured by the organization of American states.

Dirksen also said that the President has no desire to call Congress back into special session, adding that such a call would not go out unless some unforeseen crisis develops.

Brush Painter Brings Charm Of Oriental Art

By Margrethe Plum

"Just press the brush and turn it," said the Japanese brush painter.

The result—a beard of wheat.

Takahiko Mikami, narrator of Japanese Brush Painting and Once Upon a Japanese Time, was in Lincoln Thursday as the guest of station KUON-TV.

With him were two students at the University of California, Masahiro Murata and Kinya Tsuruta.

The 3 are completing a tour of the United States. The mission: to introduce Japanese culture to Americans.

While Mikami, the founder and director of the 3-year-old Japanese Art Center in San Francisco, paints and demonstrates, Tusuruta and Murara explain the art of wood block painting.

They show examples of old and modern Japanese culture: earthenware 2,000 years old, handles from sliding doors of Japan's Imperial Palace, Japanese scrolls and tiny "senbutsu" figures which once were buried with dead Japanese.

Mikami, dressed in his Japanese formal costume, stands, brush in hand, before his easel.

T. MIKAMI . . . a dab and a line . . . a bird on a limb. (Star Photo.)

He explains a particular stroke:

"Just open up the brush, a dab and a line." That's all, his face laughs.

"Some water . . . do the ocean waves," a lady orders.

"First you rinse the brush, dry it, and apply dark ink only at the tip."

His brush touches the paper —two dots, a shadowed curve, a few quick strokes— an ocean wave.

"Please do that horse."

"Oh, yes . . . eyes, ears, nose, jaw . . . ok?" smiles the Japanese painter.

Three horses cavort across his drawing board.

"Do a man. I saw you do it on your show," says a young Ivy League chap.

"That was two years ago," Mikami says with a smile. "It's hard to remember . . . I forgot what I did on that program . . . I'm sorry," he says as he begins tracing the proper lines.

Then KUON-TV's program director, Bob Schlater, announced:

Ladies and gentlemen. We're going to tape 30 minutes of this reception for broadcast tomorrow (at 8:30 p.m., a half-hour preceding Mikami's Once Upon a Japanese Time).

The Channel 12 cameramen sprang to positions behind the cameras and started churning their way to Schlater who was introducing the show.

And where was Mikami, the guest of honor?

Governor Unchanged; 'Can Handle Business'

By Betty Person

There was "no change" Thursday evening from the medical report given earlier in the day on the condition of Gov. Ralph Brooks by his physicians at a press conference.

He said the 62-year-old chief executive is a "sick man" and in "serious condition," but that he is "capable of transacting state business —sign papers and discuss business."

"If the governor gets so he cannot sign papers and discuss matters, I assure you I'll tell Mr. (Robert) Conrad," the physician stated.

Conrad, administrative assistant to the governor, reported Thursday evening, following another visit with the governor at the hospital, that the governor signed additional papers, including the waiver of a hearing on the increase in assistance standards.

At the earlier press conference, the physician was queried about the future of the governor's condition and he replied that one "can't predict with accuracy what's going to happen to a heart from day to day."

Gov. Brooks is "doing as well as we can expect right now," he stated.

The governor entered Lincoln General Hospital August 23 with a virus infection which initiated a weakened condition of the heart muscle resulting in congestive heart failure.

Explaining the nature of the illness, the physician said the virus—an upper respiratory infection—affected his lungs which affected his heart.

"The virus itself is not a problem now—it's the heart," he continued.

"When we're talking about

Pennsy Set For A Long Strike Fight

Philadelphia (AP) — The sprawling Pennsylvania Railroad, America's biggest, lay idle Thursday for the first time in its 114-year history. It was brought to a standstill by a strike by 20,000 nonoperating employes.

Management and labor negotiators, prodded by a federal mediator, met separately but without noticable haste in their quest for settlement of a work rule-job security dispute that started in 1957.

Both sides braced for a possible long bargaining fight. Statements they issued were unyielding.

Seek Others

Meanwhile, commuters and shippers cast about for other means of service in the 13 states and the District of Columbia where the Pennsy operates 10,000 miles of track among industrial and agricultural centers.

Fears of a stiff blow to the nation's economy were allayed for the time being.

So far the pinch has been slight. Warned in advance, most firms stockpiled materials and supplies. Industry had hastened delivery of finished items to market.

Defense Unhurt

The Defense Department in Washington said the strike would have "no major impact upon military traffic or shipments."

A long strike could create problems in moving out farm goods. Trucks are being pressed into service throughout the affected regions. Goods are re-routed to other rail lines.

Buses, autos, planes and other railroads are carrying the 136,000 passengers who normally ride the PRR to and from work or shopping each day.

Normally the PRR operates 722 passenger trains daily, and nearly 850 freights. Now, not a wheel is turning. Some 200,000 freight cars, 5,000 passenger and 2,000 engines stand ghost-like in the yards.

Lincoln Boy Hurt

Council Bluffs, Iowa (AP) — Patrick Coffeldt, 9, Lincoln, suffered head bruises Thursday when a car driven by his father, Peter L., collided with another car at a highway intersection.

Sheriff's deputies said the other car was driven by Herman Inman, Glenwood, Iowa.

Summit Meet A Possibility

WASHINGTON FEELS IKE WILL DELIVER REPLY OF WEST TO COMMUNIST CHIEF

By The Associated Press

Nikita Khrushchev, who baffled the Big 4 talks at Paris in mid-May, now may bring about a September summit session alongside New York's East River.

Russia's traveling premier made known Thursday night that he will head the Soviet delegation to the U.N. General Assembly opening Sept. 20.

Kremlin allies—except for the non-U.N. Red China—quickly got in line with the announcement that they will send their heads of government to the meeting.

Khrushchev's action could bring similar, although perhaps reluctant, decisions from the heads of the big Western powers to attend.

Change Foreseen

Khrushchev weeks ago said he thought government chiefs should get together at the U.N. session in New York to talk disarmament. Western reaction to that suggestion was cool, but the word that Khrushchev definitely will be on hand may bring some changes.

The White House declined comment on Khrushchev's plans, referring newsmen to President Eisenhower's earlier statements. The President said last month he would not rule out an Assembly appearance if he thought it necessary.

Opinion in Washington held it almost certain that Eisenhower would make a major reply to Khrushchev in the U.N.

British Prime Minister Macmillan said several weeks ago he had no intention of going to U.N. Headquarters for the assembly, but a British official said Khrushchev's definite announcement meant a new situation had arisen.

". . . The prime minister certainly will look at the situation again," the official said.

Await Paris Comment

There was no immediate comment from Paris, but the possibility was raised that President de Gaulle might consider going along if the other big Western leaders attend.

Khrushchev attended the opening of the General Assembly in New York last fall and presented a Soviet plan for disarmament that never got anywhere in negotiations later carried out in Geneva.

But since that appearance and Khrushchev's tour of the United States, relations between Washington and Moscow ran into new trouble. The May 1 downing of the American U-2 plane over Russia brought a demand from Khrushchev for an apology from Eisenhower. When Eisenhower refused, Khrushchev said "no" to taking part in the Paris Summit meeting.

In addition to most of the top men in the Communist world, the General Assembly session may draw the attendance of another leader who has come in for his share of attention from both East and West. Reports had circulated in Havana that Prime Minister Fidel Castro would attend if Khrushchev did.

There was no immediate Cuban comment on the announcement that Khrushchev definitely will be there, but that did not rule out the possibility that Castro might show up, too.

Reds Met In Secret

Communist diplomatic sources said the foreign ministers of all U.N. members in the Soviet bloc except Red China held a secret meeting in Bucharest early last month and decided on the attendance of their government chiefs.

They said it also was decided to present this 5-point Communist bloc program to the Assembly:

1. American aggression against the Soviet Union.
2. A program of aid to new African nations.
3. Creation of nuclear-free zones in the Baltic, central Europe, the Balkans, the Far East and possibly other regions.
4. A program for the education of world youth in the principles of peaceful coexistence.
5. A U.N. guarantee for the Oder-Neisse frontier between Germany and Poland.

—IKE . . . KHRUSH—

Private Meeting Unlikely

Washington (AP) — President Eisenhower appeared almost certain Thursday to go to New York to deliver a major western reply to Soviet Premier Khrushchev's United Nations speech.

This was reported to be the initial administration strategy to cope with what was viewed as a bold move by the Soviet leader to press Russia's anti-Western offensive later this month from a forum inside the United States.

Eisenhower was understood to have no present plans for any private meeting with Khrushchev — either in New York or in Washington.

The White House declined any comment on Khrushchev's plans except to say, through assistant press Secretary Anne Wheaton, that "we will have nothing more to say beyond what the President said at his press conferences . . ."

Eisenhower was asked at an Aug. 10 news conference whether he might go to the U.N. meeting if Khrushchev showed up. He replied: "Well, by no means would I disbar myself from going if I thought it was necessary."

Asked whether, if Krushchev showed up in New York, he would be invited to visit Washington too, the President said he had "considered the possibility so remote that I haven't given it a thought."

Kremlin Warns Red China Not To 'Try It Alone'

Ideological Bickering Is Out In Open

By Stanley Johnson

Moscow (AP) — The Kremlin has discreetly warned the Red Chinese they could never expect to stand alone against the capitalist world.

The oblique warning was a striking example of the background ideological debate between Moscow and Peiping over the theory and practice of Communist world policy. Rarely have published statements gone so far as to address the Red Chinese directly and by name in the months of ideological bickering.

The reminder of Communist China's dependence upon the Soviet Union appeared in an article by S. Titarenko in the central newspaper of the Latvian Communist Party, Soviet Latvia. Diplomats considered this a curious vehicle for transmission of such a remminder, since it is not in general circulation throughout the rest of the Soviet republics.

At Least 3 Articles

(The article, however, was one of at least 3 on this theme produced recently by Titarenko. The other two were in newspapers of general circulation, but did not mention Red China by name. Titarenko is an experienced Communist Party theoretician who also served under Stalin. His articles have appeared in central theoretical periodicals.)

The debate centers about the question of the inevitability of world conflict between the Communists and the capitalists. Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev contends such a war now can be avoided in view of growing Soviet strength. The Chinese evidently reject this idea as contrary to the views of Lenin on the inevitability of an ultimate clash of Communism and capitalism.

Hinder Red Mobilization

The Titarenko article, repeating the contentions of Khrushchev, denounced as dogmatists those who consider World War III inevitable. Such views, it said, hinder the mobilization of the Communist camp against "imperialism" and get in the way of Communist assistance to emerging independent countries in the former colonial world."

"Can one imagine in actual conditions of life today the successful building of Socialism, even in such a great country as China, if this country were isolated and could not rely on the co-operation and mutual aid of all countries of the Socialist camp?" Titarenko wrote.

"Such a country, blockaded economically by capitalist countries, would also be subjected to war and strikes from the outside. It would suffer the greatest difficulties even if it could resist the blows from its enemies . . ."

Mrs. Aadland Gets 90 Days

Los Angeles (AP) — Florence Aadland, mother of the late Errol Flynn's last girl friend, Thursday was sentenced to 90 days in jail for contributing to her delinquency.

The sentence came as a probation report showed Mrs. Aadland's ex-husband once accused her of "selling" their daughter, Beverly, to the actor when she was 15.

The jail sentence, to start Sept. 8, was part of a one-year term imposed by Superior Judge Lewis Drucker who suspended 9 months of it.

Beverly, now 17, traveled widely with Flynn and was with him when he died in Canada on Oct. 14, 1959. She now is in custody of a Hollywood minister as a ward of Juvenile Court.

MR. AND MRS. WYMAN . . . flooded Yacht limping in.

Yachtsman Has Nebraska Background

Honolulu—The 136-foot yacht Wild Goose II, a hole in her hull and one compartment still flooded, ran into 10-foot waves and 25-knot winds Thursday while limping toward Honolulu with 18 persons aboard.

The yacht, owned by the grandson of a former Nebraska governor, was fighting its way back through rising seas and wind with the help of the Coast Guard.

Owner Max Wyman, a Seattle lumber man, had turned back on a world tour and taken aboard a 4-year-old heart patient from Penrhyn island for treatment in Seattle when the yacht first experienced trouble 290 miles south of Honolulu.

Wyman is a grandson of former Governor Silas Holcomb of Nebraska. His mother, the former Marian Holcolm of Lincoln, was a daughter of Governor Holcomb and a member of Pi Beta Phi Sorority at the University of Nebraska.

Wyman's father, Maxwell A. Wyman, formerly of York, was graduated from the University of Nebraska in 1909 and was a member of Beta Theta Pi Fraternity.

Just Thought He'd Go Out For A Little Fresh Air

Police early Thursday delivered home safely a 4-year-old pajama-clad boy found walking barefoot near 27th and R.

Chad Peterson's mother, Mrs. Karen Peterson of 631 No. 26th, called police headquarters to report her son missing. She feared he'd been kidnaped; he'd gone to sleep on a sofa and, when his mother discovered him gone, the screen was ajar.

The adventuresome tot, however, had crawled out the window and gone for a nocturnal walk. He was sleeping soundly at headquarters when Mrs. Peterson called.

Ginsburg To Recommend Dosek Appeal

Joseph Ginsburg, Lincoln attorney representing Edward A. Dosek, whose license to solicit and broker insurance in Nebraska has been revoked for one year, said he will recommend that Dosek appeal the decision to the District Court.

State Insurance Director William Grubbs Thursday ordered revocation of Dosek's license for the period ending July 21, 1961. His license has been under revocation since July 21 of this year.

Grubbs' action Thursday followed a hearing in support of a motion by Dosek that the July order be set aside.

It was revealed Thursday that Dosek has recently sold his insurance business, Dosek Bonding & Insurance, a Lincoln firm.

Ginsburg said the agency had been sold to Emery Blue of Lincoln at a considerable loss.

Sale Confirmed

Grubbs confirmed that the sale had passed through the Insurance Department's office.

In the motion to set aside the previous order, Ginsburg said the July suspension "constitutes deprivation of (Dosek's) livelihood without due process of law," and that the manner in which the previous hearing was held jeopardized Dosek's rights.

The Lincoln insurance man, who also is the Democratic nominee for lieutenant governor, was charged with failure to deliver some policies and payments to an insurance company of premiums paid by policy holders.

Dosek has 20 days in which to file an appeal from the decision.

Brooks' Heart Damaged

this condition, we're talking about the heart muscle as a whole.

"When the muscle is weak, it doesn't push the blood around properly," he said.

When this happens, extra fluid collects in the body.

In reference to the governor's condition early Tuesday when he took a turn for the worse — but from which he has rallied somewhat — the doctor said it was not known exactly what caused it — that it was a worsening of his existing condition and not a new ailment.

'Could Become Better'

Asked if he could predict when a marked improvement might be shown, the physician said, "After this has gone on this long, we wouldn't expect him to snap back in 24 hours. He could become much better within a few days time."

Improvement depends upon the governor's reaction to treatment and it's simply a case of having to wait and see, he said.

The governor has received no sedatives, and there is no paralysis, the physician said in response to questions.

In answer to a query concerning the governor's political future, the physician replied, "I have not discussed his future plans with him. When I do, I'm sure he'll be happy to tell you gentlemen all about it."

Gov. Brooks is the Democratic candidate for the U.S. Senate. There has been speculation that he will possibly withdraw from the campaign in view of his illness. He has until Sept. 9 to withdraw.

The physician said the reports on the governor's condition relayed to reporters by Conrad, have been "100 per cent accurate."

At the conclusion of the press conference, Conrad told reporters he had visited with the governor Thursday morning for about 30 minutes.

He signed some papers, including the project agreement for construction of the fall-out shelter at the Governor's Mansion and discussed "several other matters of state government."

"As the governor's physician has indicated, he (Brooks) was alert, active and interested and was in good spirits this morning.

"As always, he has a good, firm hand on the reins," Conrad added.

Conrad also said later that if the governor's physician indicates the governor can no longer transact state business "the lieutenant governor will be notified promptly."

FBI Holds Man In Lovers Lane Kidnap-Murder

Washington (AP) — The FBI announced the arrest early Friday of Joseph Harry Milani, 33, at Carbondale, Ill., in connection with the kidnap murder Aug. 25 of Mary Lily Ellen Roberts, a 17-year-old waitress.

The body of the young waitress was located 3 days later in a 30-foot well shaft on an abandoned house 3 miles north of Herrin, Ill.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said Milani, a convicted murderer, was identified by John Bryant, 20, a Murphysboro, Ill., barber, as his assailant in the lovers lane shooting at Crab Orchard Lake, Ill., wildlife refuge.

Milani, a 200-pound, 6-foot unemployed resident of Marion, Ill., is the owner of a 1955 Buick sedan, the same year and model car into which the gunman dragged the screaming Roberts girl after shooting Bryant in the face.

U.S. Rubber Plants Seized By Castro

. . . MAMMOTH RALLY SET FOR FRIDAY

Havana (AP) — Fidel Castro's regime seized Cuban plants of 3 big U.S. rubber companies Thursday in a new anti-American economic offensive that may reach a peak at a mammoth people's rally Friday.

In a bristling speech, Raul Castro, the prime minister's younger brother, hinted that all 600 U.S. businesses in Cuba that have escaped nationalization may be taken over. There was speculation Fidel Castro would announce such action at the rally.

Following the familiar pattern of seizure, armed militiamen moved in on the U.S. rubber, Goodyear and Firestone plants after workers accused the companies of trying to cut production to sabotage Castro's revolution, the U.S. Embassy reported.

High In Millions

U.S. rubber investments in Cuba total 10 million dollars, Goodyear 8 million and Firestone 7 million.

The embassy said it was informed a fourth company, Goodrich, escaped because 80% of its stock is held by a Mexican subsidiary of the American company.

The four companies normally meet all of Cuba's requirements for tires and other rubber goods through manufacturers here or by imports. There were reports the rubber companies will retaliate by halting heavy purchases of rayon and nylon cord from Cuba.

There were rumors Fidel Castro might use the Friday mass meeting to break off relations with the United States. But the bearded prime minister is not tipping his hand.

Raul Talks Tough

The hint of possible action against remaining U.S. property come from Raul Castro in a speech declaring that the United States would be "pulverized by Soviet rockets if it dares attack this island."

Some Latin American diplomats said the mass meeting appeared to be a bid for public support, more a sign of weakness than strength. They said they believed the nightly bomb explosions in Havana and growing rebel bands in the hills have Castro and his advisers worried.

Morley, Meadow Lane School Bids Are OKd

Apparent low bids on both the new May Morley Elementary School and the addition to Meadow Lane Elementary School were accepted by the Lincoln Board of Education Thursday at a special meeting.

The George Cook Construction Co. was awarded the contract for general construction of the new May Morley Elementary School, 68th and Monterey Dr., with a bid of $194,275.

The mechanical construction contract was awarded to the Reinhardt Brothers with a bid of $86,500, while the Action Electric Co.'s bid of $28,838 on electrical construction was accepted.

The total cost for construction is $309,613, less than the estimated cost of $315,000.

Construction bids for the Meadow Lane addition, 7200 Vine, totalled $115,981; the original estimated cost was $122,000.

Broken down, the low bid figures were: general construction, M. W. Anderson Construction Co., $86,745; mechanical construction, George H. Wentz Inc., $19,769, and electrical construction, Commonwealth Electric Co., $9,467.

Both schools will be completed by fall of 1961, Dr. Steven Watkins, superintendent, said. Construction is expected to begin immediately.

EDUCATIONAL TELEVISION GRANT MADE

The Ford Foundation has granted the Lincoln Public Schools $10,000 for an experimental project in educational television, Lincoln School Board members were told Thursday.

The grant was made in response to a request by the Lincoln system for aid in the establishment of the program, which will cost $30,000.

Member schools in the program, which features telecasting one day a week to each the 4th, 5th and 6th grades and one day to teachers, are Beatrice, Westside, Nebraska City, Syracuse, Wilber, Elk Creek and Lincoln.

Charles Klasek, former Lincoln Southeast High School teacher, has been appointed coordinator of the project at an annual salary of $6,300.

Nuss To Preside At Framkin Trial

Omaha (AP)—District Judge Edmund Nuss, Hastings, will preside at the trial of Omaha attorney M. Robert Framkin, charged with receiving stolen property.

Judge Patrick W. Lynch said and other judges felt that since Framkin has practiced in their courts, none of them should preside.

Framkin is accused of being the go-between in a deal whereby a $100,000 government bond allegedly taken in a robbery was returned to its owners.

Tuition Rates For Outside Pupils Get OK

The Lincoln Board of Education approved the following per pupil tuition rates for students who live out of the district but want to attend Lincoln schools:

Kindergarten $164 per year; grades one to 6 inclusive, $328; grades 7 to 12 inclusive, $460.

Special education classes for the physically handicapped at Park School, $2,070 annually; special education for mentally retarded, kindergarten, $328; elementary, $656; 7 to 12 grades, $919; hard-of-hearing classes at Prescott, $706 annually for kindergarten or halftime, and $1,412 for full time, and home bound, $739.

In other action Thursday, the School Board accepted bids for all dairy products, except ice cream, to be sold to schools by Beatrice Foods, Fairmont Foods, Lincoln Dairy and Roberts Dairy Co.

Smith's Home Dairy will supply ice cream for the system during the coming year, and the Continental Baking Co., will supply bread.

Record 1,095 Teachers To Meet Tuesday

A record 1,095 Lincoln Public School teachers will assemble at 1:30 p.m. next Tuesday at Lincoln High School for the annual general meeting, Superintendent Steven Watkins told Lincoln School Board members Thursday.

Dr. Watkins stated that the system had been fortunate in replacements thus far and to date every vacancy was filled. The board approved several additions to teaching personnel to cover the last-minute changes.

Watkins Outlines 'Blueprint For Excellence In Education'

"The Blueprint for Achieving Excellence in Education in the Lincoln Public Schools," is drawn up in 7 major sections by Dr Steven Watkins in the annual Superintendent's report on the Lincoln Public Schools.

The report, which will be distributed to Lincoln Public School students shortly after school opens Sept. 12, lists the following major keys toward excellence in education:

—An informed public, which is essential in the achievement of sound-up-to-date schools.

—A pupil's receptive attitude, which is basic to all achievement.

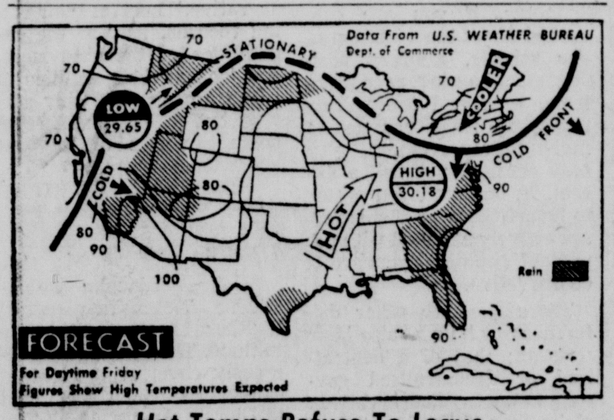

—A competent staff, which includes adequate training, professional qualities, continuous preparation and growth, and good staff morale.

—A high quality school curriculum which is broad enough to include a sound program for children of varying abilities, capacities and interests.

—Adequate teaching tools, such as textbooks, reference and supplementary materials, maps, globes, charts, models, audio-visual equipment, many types of classroom and laboratory equipment and supplies.

—Good school housing which provides clean, safe, healthy, pleasant and functional surroundings for the pupils.

—Attention to future demands by continual revision of the educational program in terms of man's ever-expanding knowledge, wants, needs and desires.

Warning: Don't Get Hungry In Zoo

Rapid City, S.D. (UPI)—Roy Knight, Vernon, Tex., is serving a 10-day sentence in Rapid City jail because he got hungry while visiting the Hill City, S.D., zoo.

It was bad enough that he shot one of the zoo's geese for dinner, but then the fire on which he roasted it got out of control and National Forest Service officials had to put it out.

Sen. Kennedy received his from Bernard Boyle, national Democratic committeeman, and Nixon's certificates were presented by Homer Gruenther, former Omahan on the White House staff.

Walter Scott, member of the President's Club, then welcomed both men into the chamber with phone calls. Dues for each will be paid through their respective party organizations in Douglas County.

New Jordan Premier Says Communism Biggest Threat

Amman, Jordan (UPI) — Jordanian Premier Baghat Al Talhouni, who replaced assassinated premier Hazza Al-Majali Monday, Thursday night called Communism "the number one threat to the Middle East."

Talhouni, in his first interview as premier, said that the free world must help the Arab nations fight Communism. He said he would strengthen Jordan's ties with the West.

"If the free world just sits and watches the Mideast without giving whole-hearted support to causes of neglected Arab rights in Palestine, then the whole area is ripe for Communism," he said.

"As strong as our relations with the United States are now, we will strive to improve them," he added.

Talhouni accused the United Arab Republic of planning the bombing that killed Majali and 10 other persons Monday.

"But we do not consider such acts of cowardice as any threat to Jordan," he said. "On the contrary, they increase our strength and determination against all acts of cowardice."

King Hussein said earlier Jordan might take "physical action" short of war to secure the return of two suspected assassins who have fled to the UAR.

Talhouni did not say what this action would be.

"A note is being prepared asking for extradition of the two whom we know went to Syria," he said. "When we receive an answer, we will decide future action accordingly."

Meanwhile, a Jordanian government spokesman said Arab League Secretary-General Abdul Khalek El-Hassouna of the UAR has agreed to come to Amman at Hussein's request to hear the Jordanian charges on the assassination.

He'll Find No Answer

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

Said the now besieged Mel Miller of Peoria, Ill., as he sat among new-found friends in Laguna Beach, Calif.: "These people are crazy—what makes them act this way? But I'm going to see this thing through, even if it kills me." The Peoria factory foreman is in California for a week of fun as guest of a group of Marines who came to know him through a series of jokes carried out by long-distance telephone.

From the jokes has come the celebration for "Good ol' Mel" and the event has Mel a little flabbergasted. He can't understand why hundreds of people would turn out to welcome him at the airport and why he should be treated so royally by people he has never even seen before. Of course, Mel stands for something to these people and this is why they have turned out the way they have. To them he represents a good sport, a friendly fellow and a dependable person. This, because he always went along with gags, tried to be helpful and was always a pleasant person.

Melvin Is A Symbol

But he still might ask, even if he realized all this, "What makes them act this way?" For one thing, he probably wonders how all these people have the time to take a week off to show him a good time. Why are they doing nothing in the middle of the day? Not long ago a California resident was heard to say that she longed to return to Nebraska.

The reason for this was rather strange—nobody worked in California. She was getting lazy herself and lack of constructive pursuits was beginning to get the best of her. Somehow, people made a living in California but they slept late in the mornings and didn't live by any kind of schedule of responsibilities. She wasn't sure how much more of it she could take before becoming a completely useless human being.

★

All those involved in the welcome for Mel are not useless human beings and maybe most of them work themselves to death eight hours a day. But anyone who has seen the West Coast knows that it is no place for formality or precedent. Within broad limits, one might say that anything goes. Coming from Peoria, it is natural that all of this would amaze Mr. Miller who, evidently, has lived under a degree of self-discipline all of his life. He confounded his hosts by affirming a report that he did not drink.

From the bar where the whole episode originated, this was believed to be an impossibility. Secondly, Mel is an elder in his church and his wife is not at all concerned over the bevy of Hollywood beauties who have a part in the big celebration for him. In all, Mel had all of the earmarks of being a square. Outside of a regular two or three weeks annual vacation, Mel probably hasn't missed a day at work for years. If he has, he has probably been confined to his bed.

★

So, not only does Mel wonder what makes 'em tick in California but his Laguna Beach friends are probably wondering what makes 'em tick in Peoria. It is doubtful that either will have their question answered by the end of the week of celebrating. The difference is probably a combination of many things. The significant thing in the life of Californians is the fact that the region is a rapidly growing one.

Many of its residents are composed of people who have simply pulled up stakes and moved out there. It has taken a bit of the wanderlust and some spirit of adventure and independence to do this. With this tremendous growth has come great opportunity. It has meant a good supply of jobs which furthers the feeling of independence.

It has meant the amassing of fortunes in a matter of years for some people. The tourist business in California has brought money into the area which represents clear profit. This business is like a gift horse for the state as a whole. Climate is another contributing factor. The pattern of life is always more relaxed and informal in temperate zones—a fact which has even some biological support in addition to whatever the psychology of the thing might be. So what makes 'em act like they do in California? It is the same thing which makes Mel what he is—environment.

California's Lure

But people are people wherever you go and this unusual episode is likely to prove that. Both Mel and his hosts may end the week still wondering about the other guy but chances are they will grant that what the other is is more important than why and they will find the "what" pretty satisfying. Our country can use both the spontaneity of California and reliability of Illinois.

Revenooers In Newman Grove

The Buffalo County fair has one booth that should prove popular with fair-goers this year, perhaps even more so than the games of chance themselves, considering the odds in any such gamble. For this booth provides a sure thing. It has for sale the same articles offered as prizes on the other stands.

Small town or not, Morrill is getting to be quite cosmopolitan in its atmosphere, both in sending its own to far places and in its hospitality and welcome to outsiders . . .

Recent visitors there came from Edinburgh, Scotland, Alahabad, India, and Guadalajara, Mexico. Meanwhile, two of its own young people were returning from a summer as exchange students in Holland, with visits to bordering countries.

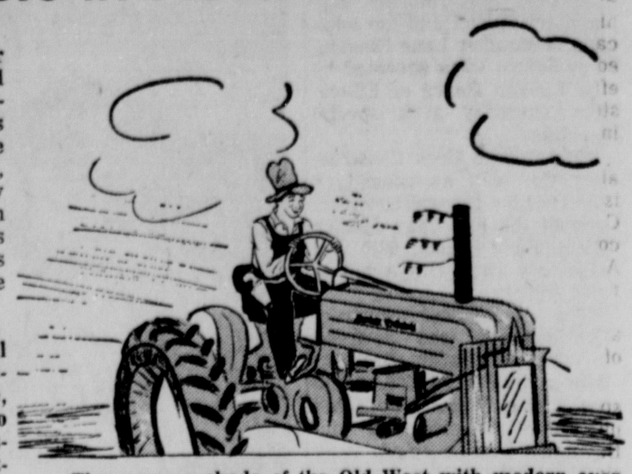

☆ ☆ ☆

Art Riedesel noted in the Ashland Gazette an item to the effect that American-born Lady Astor had "no comment" on a recent disturbance near her summer home. If Lady Astor has no comment, he says, she must be slipping . . .

The wife of Viscount Astor, first woman to sit in the House of Commons and representing Plymouth there from 1919 to 1945, has been what Mr. Riedesel calls "good copy" all these years. "During World War II, she several times visited the army camp where I was stationed, and the indelible impression gained was that Lady Astor never stopped talking."

Velma Price is a bit teed off at the Internal Revenue Department, and with good reason, not so much for the separation of an individual from his hard-earned money that is their specialty, but for wrapping up the whole situation in her case in a ridiculously sticky mass of red tape . . .

The Newman Grove Reporter's lady editor had to explain her maiden name, produced copies of tax returns for some years back, proving that she was herself, and was informed that cancelled checks might be necessary. She may have to sell some Boone County land to herself, too, she grumbles. Her visitor's only suggestion was that she write her congressman. But, she says, she doubts that "even a congressman could prove to the Revenue Department that Velma Burgess and Mrs. Velma Price or Mrs. F. H. Price are one and the same person."

John Carter's political leanings aren't too hard to understand when the Clarks News publisher comes up with such pithy comments as this:

"Republicans say that Kennedy is an inexperienced youth of 43, while Nixon is a sage old man of wisdom at 47. My, how a person can age in a few years."

Peru's shade trees have been undergoing drastic treatment for an ailing condition that brought professional doctors in, lopping branches, spraying them, putting cables between splitting limbs, fertilizing the anemic and even putting tubes into bleeding boles to relieve high blood pressure. At last report, they seem to be doing somewhat better.

DREW PEARSON

Ellender Failed To Tend Store

WASHINGTON — Sen. Clinton Anderson of New Mexico was talking to Senate colleagues the other day about failure to pass a farm bill despite the plight of several million small farmers. Anderson, who used to be secretary of agriculture, pointed out that the key trouble was the chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee, Sen. Allen Ellender of Louisiana, who has been off on junkets around the world when he should have been home passing farm legislation.

The Senate is like a sieve as far as gossip is concerned, and Anderson's remarks immediately leaked back to Ellender, who was fit to be tied.

Real fact is, however, that Sen. Anderson understated the case.

If the farmers of the nation could walk through Sen. Ellender's office they would understand why he has been too busy to write a new farm bill.

☆ ☆ ☆

For his office is nothing short of a museum of relics collected on trips to almost every country in the world—all at the taxpayers' expense. Here are just some of the trophies the senator has collected:

A bundle of Indian arrows from Peru; a gaily decorated elephant given him by Pakistan school children in appreciation of his expected vote for U.S. foreign aid (the children did not know that Ellender is the chief gutter of foreign aid); several other elephants carved in ebony.

Two round catapult balls unearthed from the ruins of Carthage. (There is nothing to indicate whether the Romans shot them at the Carthaginians or vice versa. They were unearthed from a Carthaginian arsenal which was being excavated while Ellender was in Tunis.)

An Egyptian scarab 1,300 years old; Argentine gaucho footgear for riding on the Pampas; a Russian ikon in jade; balanced brass oil lamps; an African warrior's shield made of rhinoceros hide; some Greek statues; an African reed hat resembling the wigwam contraption women wear today.

☆ ☆ ☆

A flock of old Egyptian adobe (mud) lamps which could date back to the time the Israelites under Pharaoh were required to make bricks without straw. There is no straw in these lamps.

A flock of dolls, all dressed up, large and small, from almost every country in the world.

Some wicked looking Moroccan and African knives in sheaths—of the type Ellender would like to use on Sen. Anderson.

What Of The Rest Of It?

The Denver Post, with a good many sympathizers, is not inclined either to forget or forgive the Eisenhower's administration's handling of the farm problem as expressed by its action man, Ezra Taft Benson.

It took the latter to task for his fondness in prodding the American taxpayer with the news that it is costing $1 million a day to store the nation's agricultural surpluses.

Said the Post, "What he does not add—and he should — is that the cost needn't be that high, that government practices in setting storage rates have allowed large grain operators to make large profits at the taxpayer's expense." All of which is true, or was true until the Symington investigation prompted the Agriculture Department to reduce storage rates approximately 19 per cent.

Actually it is the height of something for an administrator to run up the costs and then, in a detached way, point to the result as deplorable.

But the Post could have gone a step farther. The grain storage people are not the chief villain, and not all are raking the public till for excessive profits. The Benson inducements of provocative grain rates, and for a while the guarantee of capacity storage, and in general the strong pressure to influence private investment into storage structures brought into being much new construction. Nebraska's capacity, alone, virtually doubled in eight years and all told is now in the neighborhood of 1 billion bushels. This construction represents a huge amount of invested capital, committed in good faith on the long range. Now it would be extremely dangerous and unwise to rot that investment by getting out of the storage business or continuing in it at revised rates that would be ruinous to the investors. Besides being a single instance of faith-breaking it would extend the farm depression into the large field of grain storing and handling.

It isn't all the new $750,000 a day storage cost the taxpayers are confronted with, it is being saddled with storage capacity for an indefinite period, too.

The Non-voters

The Congressional Quarterly which endeavors more greatly to be authentic than dramatic is source for the information that of 103 million potential voters in 1956 only 62 million voted, making a percentage of 62.

When the statistics are projected into Nebraska it developed that there were 876,000 of voting age of which 577,137 cast votes. That is to say 65.9 per cent. From that it is apparent that Nebraska is slightly better than national average, but further statistical inquiry showed that neighboring states averaged substantially better.

This information will give rise to a good deal concerned talk about the tendency not to exercise the democratic privilege and there will be efforts made to push the reluctant to the polls. This will be a questionable service. Assuming that a non-voter becomes such because of indifference and lack of partisan opinion then it is ponderable whether his vote lends substance to the privilege of franchise and could as easily vote the country into a calamity as into good fortune. And it is also somewhat misleading to judge electoral slackness by the number of net votes cast. There are a great many voters barred from the election booth by contingencies of the day, a confining type of work, illness, and failure to qualify in terms of residency or other qualifications test. When that group is added in the percentages change considerably for the better.

In the case of Nebraska there is another factor. It has for years been a largely one party state which is a situation leading to apathy and habit voting. For those not born with a passion for politics there is not much inducement to vote for a sure fire loser or to add the triumph of a sure fire winner.

Knowing The Subject

Recognition of an important aspect of our survival is contained in Senate passage of a bill which would establish an academy to teach tactics for use in the cold war. The Freedom Academy would instruct diplomats, State Department employees and others in the techniques of dealing with communism on grounds other than a shooting war.

The past few years of communist activities have shown that the Reds generally proceed with an entire plan well in mind. Not only do they work to maintain their positions of strength and to take advantage of current opportunities, but they take calculated steps to create situations favorable to their advancement. They play the game of international affairs as one might play a game of chess.

Their moves are thought out well in advance, they always try to keep themselves flexible enough to avoid disaster and their objectives are always keenly hidden until a telling blow can be delivered. Many a pawn might fall until the opposing knight is captured. And rooks and knights are expendable in any successful effort to get the queen, for once she falls there is little left but the formality of unopposed moves to final victory.

The weakness of the Western alliance has come in the lack of planned strategy, attention to the detailed maneuvers of the enemy and understanding of the finer points of the game. When Russian intentions become clear in South America, the Far East or the Middle East, our tactic is always to face the enemy on the battle grounds he has selected.

With Red-created turmoil in the Middle East, we never counter with successes in the Orient or South America. This is giving the Communists too great an advantage by permitting them to dictate the terms of battle. A Freedom Academy could be an important part of the answer to this weakness.

Religious Issue In Midwest, Too

WASHINGTON—It is untrue and unfair to make the South the sole scapegoat for attacks of the anti-Catholic nature of some of the opposition to Sen. John F. Kennedy for president.

The Democratic National Committee is not advertising its other troubles of this type but admits they are more or less prevalent outside the South and particularly in the Middle West. In some parts of the one-time Republican heartland it is believed that the unpopularity of Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson is balanced by sentiment hostile to a Catholic president.

Party discussion of the situation among the professional politicians is the less inhibited perhaps by the fact that for the first time since August, 1928, the national chairman is a Protestant—Sen. Henry M. Jackson of Washington. Jackson does not plan to continue in the job after the election, but it is Kennedy's intention to keep direction of party affairs in similarly liberal, western and Protestant hands.

☆ ☆ ☆

The common political factor in an apparent concentration of the religious issue in the South and Midwest is that they are the principal areas of the country which have long seen one party or the other in more or less undisputed control. The South has been the more cohesive and more colorful because of the Civil War and its consistent, open repression of Negroes.

But it has long drawn its major congressional help from a fairly solid bloc of Midwest Republican economic conservatives. Lacking a large Negro minority in their states, such Republicans could afford to furnish key civil rights votes in the clinches in exchange for aid in economic questions.

The only reason Rep. Howard W. Smith of Virginia can go home to his ailing cow whenever too much pressure seems to be building for liberal legislation is that he knows he can rely on the two ranking Republicans on his Rules Committee to mind the store for him. Yet, reams are written about Smith and few voters ever hear of his indispensable allies, Reps. Leo E. Allen of Illinois and Clarence J. Brown of Ohio.

☆ ☆ ☆

The Midwest has been breaking away from its Republican ties under the impact of the troubles of American agriculture which Benson symbolizes. But leading Democrats there do not conceal from party leaders their private apprehensions that the religious issue may mean a setback to their hopes of more rapid change.

It is probably true also that the Midwest does not take as kindly to the sophisticated big-city type of candidate which Kennedy, of course, is. It never really liked Franklin Roosevelt after the economic issue stopped pressing harshly on it, nor did it care much for Thomas E. Dewey or Wendell Willkie.

The southern clergy in particular seems almost to be demanding a counterattack these days in behalf of Kennedy. The Midwest situation is less in the open. Yet there, too, brightening Nixon prospects on an imponderable issue are engaging the attention of both sides.

Five Brief Minutes

Lincoln, Neb.

Here are a few statements of fact concerning our country's preparedness. Such facts are not idle talk from ignorant leaders. They come from scholars who are scientific leaders. If people would jot down facts as they read them and put them together right, there'd be less fault-finding with our leaders.

The time-table runs something like this: It would take an intercontinental missile 30 minutes to reach American shores from eastern Europe. Our detection devices would inform us that the shot had been made 10 minutes after it started its flight. Our crew can be ready to fire within 15 minutes. Ten plus 15 equals 25. Thirty minus 25 equals five minutes.

Five minutes to spare . . .

And for years scientists have proven it takes only half a second to send a carload of people into eternity.

We should be thankful for our higher education and our devoted and successful workers.

Welcome Hand

North Bend, Neb.

I wish to commend Gov. Brooks on his untiring efforts in the past in suggesting and working for legislation that would help to induce industry to establish itself in our great state of Nebraska. With farms growing ever larger, forcing the small farmer to find an additional income for survival, with our present jobs, it seems the only answer is more industry — industry to create jobs, which will in turn create more wealth for our small towns and farming communities. New industry will maintain and keep our high standard of living which we take so much for granted.

According to state analysis, Dodge County has some of the most fertile land in the world, plus plenty of water for irrigation purposes. Labor and housing situations can be met for any large industry that wishes to establish itself here. Our climate is ideal for vegetables and crops of all kinds.

Since our present dispute with Cuba on the sugar problem, there may be a possibility of higher sugar prices in the near future. This may cause interest in more sugar factories in the future.

Larry Brock has assured me he will continue to work for research to convert farm commodities to industrial uses.

North Bend and all local citizens will co-operate in bringing industry to our fine state.

Labels Too General

Lincoln, Neb.

Understandably, slanted propaganda is flying thick in a battle of half-truths. Intelligent citizens should be aware they aren't "slain" by misleading generalizations or opinion polls. Perhaps one should keep in mind these two basic definitions, with which I believe both parties will agree, when considering liberalism and conservatism in politics. Liberals are those with a penchant for reform and spending; conservatives prefer saving, and maintaining the status quo.

Thus, if you are concerned about the condition of our schools, military position, slum housing, race problems, etc., and are willing to pay the necessary cost of making improvement, you may consider yourself a liberal. If, however, you prefer to ignore these problems and are entirely satisfied with the present situation, you are a conservative.

There are two other differences which also bear mention; that of a centralized or decentralized government. Conservatives claim they alone can protect individual freedoms by use of the latter form. Certainly the principle of individualism would be well worth the added expense and inefficiency of a decentralized government — if it was the only way these freedoms could be protected.

When America was founded, conservative Tories also warned against a strong central government's destroying freedom. Contrary to their hopes, however, the presidency grew and prospered and at the same time we became the mightiest example of freedom ever to exist. Would this America of today have been possible without the strong central leadership of Jackson, Lincoln, Wilson, or the two Roosevelts: No, of course not! It was proven that individualism and freedom are not synonymous with anarchy or conservatism.

Don't measure the candidates entirely by so general a label as "liberal" or "conservative." Look at their voting records, look at the capabilities of their advisers, and look at their abilities to make America not only survive but progress in the noble tradition of past achievements.

Off THE RECORD — By Ed. Reed

1960, The Register and Tribune Syndicate 9-8

". . . Welcome home to the most wonderful father in the whole world!"

Herter Charges Russia Seeking 'Collapse Of Order' In Congo

Washington (AP) — Secretary of State Christian A. Herter accused Russia Thursday night of trying to "complicate rather than assist" United Nations efforts to restore order in the Congo.

Sec. Herter

Russia's aim, he said, is to gain Communist control of the African republic through a "collapse of order" there.

Herter spoke out in a speech prepared for the annual dinner of the American Bar Assn. He denounced Russia's actions in the Congo as "the central obstacle to the establishment of a world of order."

In a review of East-West tensions, Herter charged the Kremlin leaders with clinging to a Marxist-Lenin dream of communizing the world. He said Soviet bosses probably are thinking in terms of a federation of all countries dominated by Moscow by physical coercion and force.

Pledging the United States to continue to strive for a just peace for all, Herter said this government is ready "to train and equip" U.N. peace forces.

"We support and encourage U.N. efforts to support standby peace arrangements which would permit it to act even more properly and effectively in future crises," he said.

"To this end, we will encourage other countries to respond at the next meeting of the General Assembly to the secretary general's continuing effort to obtain national contingents for possible service in future U.N. forces.

"We are prepared to see our assistance used to train and equip these earmarked contingents for the specialized U.N. types of duty. Nations which do not earmark forces should, we believe, earmark logistic and transport facilities."

Herter said that despite Soviet obstructions the world today is nearer a rule of law than it has ever been.

He said the 3 basic elements of American foreign policy are: (1) to ward off the threat of immediate war; (2) to press ahead "along constructive lines" in the meantime by safeguarded international agreements such as disarmament and (3) to strive for an ultimate goal of a world of law rather than force. In talking about disarmament, Herter emphasized that any complete East-West arms reduction plan must be accompanied by an international police force.

Herter contrasted Soviet and U.S. aid for foreign countries. Russia concentrates on spectacular projects which are of more propaganda than economic value, he said, because basically it wants to give only the appearance of helping, hoping that later the receiving country will be overwhelmed by its economic problems.

Herter also paid tribute to the British for what he called their "notable successes" in granting independence to their former territories after paving the way with parliamentary governments, civil sevices and legal systems.

Nigeria's forthcoming independence shows the amount of work required to create proper conditions for such freedoms, Herter said, adding:

"The world is learning anew that much more than economic assistance is required from the more developed countries if the less-developed countries are to stand on steady feet."

Meeting In Hills

Rawalpindi, Pakistan (AP) — India's Prime Minister Nehru and President Ayub Khan of Pakistan will meet in the Murree hills bordering Kashmir Sept. 21 to discuss problems between their countries, government sources report.

Joint Maneuvers

Washington (UPI) — Eighteen submarines and 7 squadrons of patrol planes from 5 nations will conduct joint maneuvers in the north Atlantic off Iceland Sept. 20 to Oct. 1. A pentagon announcement said the maneuvers will be under NATO command, and will be known as "Exercise Blue Shield." The planes will be from Canada, France, the United Kingdom and the United States.

Mrs. Hahn To Aid Curtis' Campaign

Grand Island — Mrs. Lloyd Hahn of Polk Thursday was named vice chairman of the Nebraska senatorial campaign committee which is working for the re-election of Sen. Carl T. Curtis (R-Neb).

Richard E. Spelts Jr. of Grand Island, committee chairman, said Mrs. Hahn, a farm wife, would concentrate on the women's activities in the campaign. A 4-H club leader for 18 years, Mrs. Hahn is past chairman of women's division, Polk County Farm Bureau and president of the newly organized Polk County Historical Society.

Ag Research Funds Sought

Business interests from south central and southwest Nebraska who have actively supported the University of Nebraska's vegetable canning crops research program made a bid Thursday for financial support of the program through the Nebraska Department of Agriculture.

A large delegation of businessmen from areas where current vegetable research is centered met at the College of Agriculture with Agriculture Department Secretary Pearle F. Finigan and members of the Committee on Industrial Utilization of Farm Crops.

A resolution proposed by Warren Curry of Holbrook was passed by voice vote to "give Finigan our complete moral support to go to the Division of Natural Resources for appropriations for the vegetable research project fund." The Division is part of the Agriculture Department and has its own budget.

Tom Waldo of Orleans, named spokesman for the delegation during a strategy session earlier in the day, said it was hoped that a request could be made to the legislature's budget committee for an appropriation of $67,000 to be added to the Division's budget, earmarked specifically for the vegetable research program. This figure would in effect make possible expansion of present research, as it is the estimated cost of all 3 phases of the program for one year, he added.

Funds for the first year's work in phase 1 of a projected 3-phase vegetable research program initiated by the College were raised by residents and organizations in Platte County, and the Hall-Buffalo-Dawson County and South Platte areas.

Money Gone By Spring

Dr. J. O. Young, chairman of the University's Department of Horticulture and Forestry, who is directing the research program, said funds contributed from the 3 areas will be used up "by late spring" of 1961, or after crops, have been planted.

The action came after lengthy discussion as to whether provisions of LB 722, the industrial utilization of farm products measure passed by the last legislature could be interpreted to encompass the vegetable project.

Under close questioning, Finigan said he believed funds raised under LB 722 could not legally be used to help underwrite the vegetable research project.

Discussion revolved around the passage within the bill stating that "the proceeds of . . . this act . . . shall be expended by the Department of Agriculture and Inspection for research and development of new, additional, and improved uses for agricultural products."

In the case of vegetables in Nebraska, Finigan said, new uses are not being sought, although it is hoped that new canning industries may be attracted to Nebraska and changes in land use are involved.

Finigan said an attorney general's opinion regarding application of LB 722 to vegetable research had not been sought, although "we have talked to him." The ag secretary said the department would be willing to spend money on vegetable research, if legally empowered to do so.

"All parties represented at the meeting were in complete agreement that the vegetable research program has potential for putting money in the pocket of the Nebraska farmer; it's only a question of the method in getting funds," Waldo commented.

Finigan had suggested alternative methods of seeking funds for the vegetable program through the legislature:

—Change the wording of the existing bill through legislative action.

—Seek an appropriation to be included as part of the University of Nebraska budget for the next biennium, earmarked specifically for vegetable research.

Schultz Says 'No Bingo' At State Fair; Supervision Difficulties Cited

By Del Harding

There will be no bingo games at the 1960 State Fair, Fair Board Secretary Ed Schultz announced Thursday.

Schultz said it would be impossible to supervise bingo playing at the fairgrounds as required by the bingo law passed last year.

Among the legal prohibitions which would pose difficulties would be the restriction against anyone under 21 playing the game.

'No Difference'

But Schultz said he doesn't believe the absence of bingo will make a "nickel's worth of difference" as far as fair attendance is concerned. He noted the fair has been setting attendance records steadily despite the fact that bingo was dropped at the fair about 8 years ago.

Preparations for the 7-day fair, which opens Saturday, were well under way Thursday.

The William T. Collins carnival caravan arrived and Collins himself was busily supervising erection of the midway rides and shows. This will be the 8th year for the Collins show at the fair.

State 4-H leader Wes Antes and state FFA supervisor Glenn Strain were on hand making preparations for the Friday arrival of the more than 3,000 young Nebraskans who will participate in the 4-H and FFA competition.

Fair Board President Fred Rehmeier of Weeping Water also was present inspecting preparations for the fair.

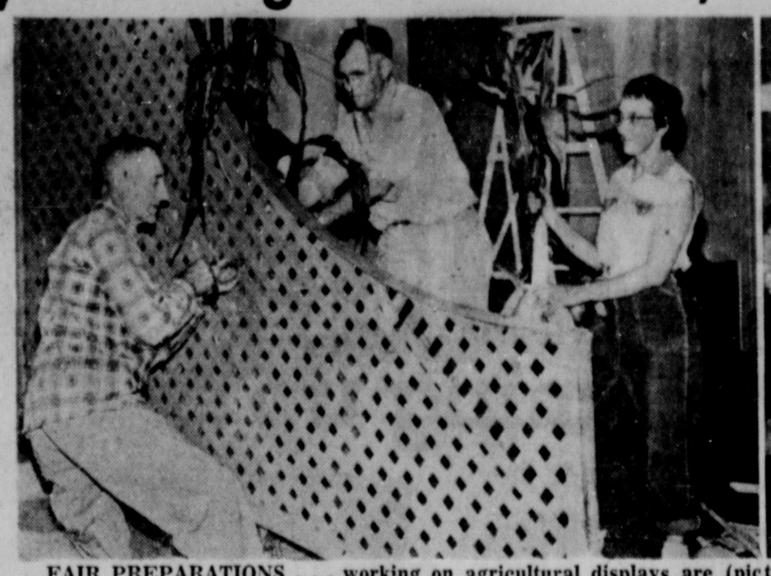

As usual, the midway will open about 6 p.m. Friday for a preview showing which gives Collins a chance to see if all rides and shows are operating properly and also allows state lawmen to inspect the shows and games to see that they comply with state laws. The public may attend the Friday night festivities without having to pay any gate charge.

Official Opening

The fair does not officially open until 6 a.m. Saturday and gate admission is not charged until that time.

Television singer Carmel Quinn, the Four Lads and vocalist Snookie Lanson are among the stars who will give their first performances in front of the grandstand Saturday at 7:45 p.m. They also are scheduled for performances Sunday, Monday and Tuesday nights.

Big car auto racing is the Sunday afternoon grandstand attraction with time trials set for 1:30 p.m.

4 Californians Lose Lives In Head-On Paxton Crash

Paxton (UPI) — Four persons were killed early Thursday and 6 were injured in a two-car headon crash on U.S. 30 two miles west of here.

All the victims were from California.

They were identified by the State Safety Patrol as:

Mrs. Mae Jetton, 42, Huntington Park, Calif.

Mrs. Viola Wright, 21, Bell Gardens, Calif.

Tommy Wright, 2, and Diane Wright, 1, children of Viola Wright.

Investigating officers said an eastbound car driven by Mrs. Jetton collided headon with a westbound car driven by Galen Hoover, 28, Ogallala, Neb. Both Hoover and a passenger in his car, Robert Fought, 28, Ogallala, are hospitalized.

Also injured were 3 other children of Mrs. Wright and her sister-in-law, Alice Wright, 30.

The injured children were identified as David, 5, Ronnie, 6, and Connie, 3.

The patrol said the crash occurred at 3:35 a.m.

Seward Man Dead; Eight Others Hurt

Omaha (AP) — One person was killed and 8 others, including 5 children, were injured Thursday in a car-truck collision at 132nd and Center Sts., west of Omaha.

The State Safety Patrol identified the victim as John Floyd Flanigan, 79, of Seward. He was driving the pickup truck involved, the patrol said. A passenger in the truck, Gerald Buls, 17, of Seward, was among the injured.

The car involved contained an Omaha family, Robert Horak, 33, his wife, Lillian, 35, and their 5 children.

Taken to Children's Memorial Hospital were Bobby Horak, 5, and Mary Ann Horak, 5 months. Both were reported in "satisfactory" condition. Treated and released were Sandra Horak, 6; Jeffrey, 3, and Sharon, 2.

Douglas County Hospital reported Buls and Horak in "satisfactory condition." Mrs. Horak was in serious condition.

The death raised the Nebraska highway fatality toll for the year to 173 as compared with 229 a year ago.

155 UP Workers In Omaha Area Laid Off

Omaha (AP) — The Union Pacific Railroad laid off 115 employes in the Omaha and Council Bluffs area Thursday, a spokesman said.

It was part of a system-wide cut of 260 blamed on declining revenues.

Several weeks ago 200 in Omaha and 1,200 employes in the system were furloughed.

Colorado Youth, 15, Charged In Attack On Columbus Girl

Columbus (AP) — A 15-year-old Longmont, Colo., youth has been charged with rape in connection with an attack on a teen-age Columbus girl.

The youth, Jerry Louis Nemnick, was transferred to Platte County jail from the Colfax County jail in Schuyler.

Platte County Attorney C. Thomas White said Nemick had given officers a statement in which he admitted assaulting the Columbus girl Tuesday morning after threatening her with a knife, and threatening a Schuyler housewife a short time later.

Police said the youth apparently entered the Columbus home and surprised the girl when she came in from the yard. At Schuyler he fled when the woman screamed.

Officers said apparently robbery was the motive in both cases.

Nemnick was arrested by Colfax County Sheriff Ed Patach and State Trooper Harold Moon after Columbus police had broadcast an alert. They said the youth was driving a car stolen in Kearney.

Officers said Nemnick previously had been put on probation for 4 years for a Colorado break-in and had served 6 months in the Boys Reformatory at Golden, Colo., for car theft.

Hyannis Phone Loan Request OK'd

The State Railway Commission Thursday granted authority to the Hyannis Telephone Co. to borrow $46,000 for use in purchasing new dial equipment.

Hyannis has had dial service since 1955, but the company is expanding service to include direct distance dialing and one and two-party lines. The money also would be used to modernize equipment and to buy a new dial switchboard.

Expected cutover date to use of the new switchboard is about Dec. 31, 1961.

The commission also granted the telephone company an increase in rates and charges for the increase in telephone service. Effective date of the increase will follow cutover to the new system.

The commission granted an increase in bus fares to the Grand Island Transit Co. New adult fare will be 20 cents compared to the old fare of 15.

Tokens were increased from two for 25 cents to two for 35 cents. The fare increases were granted on a temporary basis until March 1, 1961.

An application for a fare increase by Mascot Enterprises of Lincoln for its limousine service to the Lincoln Airport was denied.

Mascot requested the increase because it has to pay the airport 10 per cent of its gross revenue from passenger service for use of the airport facilities.

Increases asked included from $1.10 to $1.30 in zone 1; $1.60 to $1.70 in zone 2; and $2.10 to $2.20 outside these two zones.

Legal Loss

Columbus, Ohio (AP) — Sometimes it's costly to obey the law, Franklin County commissioners have learned. A county car was wrecked and a car dealer offered $500 for it. Since no trade-in for a new car was planned, commissioners were required by law to auction it off. The same dealer bid and got it — for $236.

O'CONNOR TELLS STATE OF WITHDRAWAL AS CANDIDATE

Richard A. O'Connor of Omaha has notified the secretary of state's office that he is withdrawing as a candidate for judge in the Fourth Judicial District.

The district is made up of Douglas, Washington and Burt Counties.

O'Connor said he was withdrawing because of a recent death of one of his associates resulting in a change of office personnel and office arrangements.

The Fourth District will elect 9 judges in the November general election. Eighteen were nominated in the May primary.

The O'Connor vacancy can be filled by a petition candidate but this must be done at least 50 days before the election, making the deadline Sept. 19.

The names of 250 must be on the petitions and they must include 25 voters from each of the 3 counties in the district.

In the primary balloting, Harry H. Foulks and Paul I. Manhart, both of Omaha, finished 19th and 20th.

Comedy Held Back

New York (AP) — "Under the Yum Yum Tree," a romantic comedy by Lawrence Roman, will open at the Henry Miller Theater Nov. 16, taking a tenancy previously earmarked for "I Give It Six Months."

"I Give It" has been held back until producers find the right feminine star for the George S. Kaufman-Leueen MacGrath comedy. Miss MacGrath, meanwhile, will be busy in another role — co-starring with Margaret Rutherford and Mildred Dunnock in "Farewell, Farewell Eugene."

Play Contest

New York (AP) — Fred Coe and Delbert Mann, who began their careers as directors in the Town Theater in Columbia, S.C., have been appointed judges in a nationwide playwriting contest. The contest is sponsored by the theater and the State-Record Co. of Columbia, which publishes "The State" and "The Columbia Record." The publishers are providing $1,000 in prize money for the best full-length play — not previously published or professionally produced — submitted before Nov. 15.

Weekend Death Toll Average 4

Labor Day weekends in Nebraska have taken 38 lives on the highways in the last 10 years, or an average of nearly 4 a year, Col. C. J. Sanders of the Safety Patrol said Thursday.

The worst years were in 1952 and 1943, when 6 persons were killed each year.

"From these figures, we can see why many thoughtful drivers hesitate to plan long trips over the Labor Day weekend," Col. Sanders said.

"The Safety Patrol hopes every Nebraskan will have an enjoyable Labor Day weekend. Motorists can help to make it that way by driving with alertness and caution, avoiding excessive speed and passing."

Paving, Lawn At Selleck Quad Finish Expected

Workmen at the University of Nebraska expect to finish the landscaping and paving project in front of Selleck Quadrangle before classes begin this fall.

University Business Manager Carl Donaldson said the southern half of the mall, which is used for parking, will contain grass islands to beautify and will have a hard surface to facilitate parking.

The northern half of the mall is expected to be completed next year. Dinaldson said the dust and mud problems will be eliminated with the complete landscaping of the area.

Lincoln Star Special

Genoa — Funeral services for Neil Hansen, 30, of Waverly, will be 2 p.m. Friday at the Genoa Methodist Church.

The Rev. Thomas Fraser will officiate and graveside military services will be held in Valley View Cemetery.

Thurber Returns

New York (AP) — "A Thurber Carnival," the hit comedy based on the works of humorist James Thurber, makes a return engagement starting Labor Day. The show closed during the recent actor's strike and remained shuttered for the summer.

An estimated 18,000 trucks, carrying supplies to China, traveled the Burma Road each month during World War II.

People, Parties And Plans In The Morning News

—Wonderful, wonderful morning—with elbow room. Just to show our appreciation we shall use every inch of the space to talk of people, plans, parties—and guests. And for good measure we may have a homecomer or two to mention.

Of course a Labor Day week end—or any other nice long week end, for that matter—is an incentive for fun activity, and we find that there is a generous supply of both fun and festivities on hand.

* * *

—A strictly Labor Day affair is the traditional supper for which Mr. and Mrs. Gates Minnick will be host and hostess when they entertain at the cottage on the DuTeau farm.

Mr. and Mrs. Minnick who since their marriage have entertained a group of friends each Labor Day, have invited 45 guests for the Monday affair.

And we'll tell you, too, that there is to be an out of town guest, Mrs. Louis DuTeau of Glendale, Calif., who, with her son, Al, arrives on Saturday for a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur E. Perry.

We hear that Mr. DuTeau will join his family here on Sept. 10, and the visitors will remain for several days as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Perry and Mr. DuTeau's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred DuTeau.

* * *

—On the near side of the week end—Saturday—is another fun party. Mr. and Mrs. David Olson and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Spangler, Jr., will be hostesses to the members of their dinner Club when they entertain at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Olson. The club's roster, by the way, contains the names of 10 couples.

* * *

—But today is Friday and it is a very special day for Tina Anderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilmer Anderson. Today Tina is 10 years old, and in celebration of the birthday has invited 14 guests for a swimming party at East Hills Country Club. Following an afternoon of swimming the group will return to the celebrant's home for refreshments.

* * *

—But back to Saturday evening—long enough to tell you that Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Wescott and Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Barber, Jr., are to be hosts and hostesses on Saturday night when they entertain in courtesy to Mr. and Mrs. Linus Southwick of La Canada, Calif., formerly of Lincoln.

And on Sunday morning Mr. and Mrs. Southwick will be complimented by Mr. and Mrs. Harry Seward who have invited guests, all old friends of Mr. and Mrs. Southwick, for an 11 o'clock brunch at their home.

* * *

—On the calendar for this evening is the dinner for which Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Gessner will be host and hostess at the Village Plaza when they pay prenuptial courtesy to their daughter, Miss Ginny Gessner whose marriage to Robert Lewis will be solemnized at high noon on Saturday at Holy Family Church.

* * *

—Now for the guest list—

Arriving from Ogallala this morning will be Miss Roxie Anne Scott who learned that her cousin, Miss Margo Hunt was coming from New York City for the week end—and decided to join Miss Hunt in Lincoln at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Hunt — Miss Scott, incidentally, will be a senior at Scripps College, Claremont, Calif., this year.

* * *

—Already in town are Mrs. William Waldo and her two daughters, Connie and Susan, of Gordon, who are spending several days as the guests of Mrs. Waldo's parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Reed.

—Then we heard that Mrs. George S. Higgins of Burlington, Ia., arrived in Lincoln last Sunday evening to spend the month of September as the guest of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Wilmer Anderson.

* * *

—Two new notations for your address book this morning—

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Spangler, Jr. are now at home at 3330 So. 31st St. having moved there recently from 2245 Stockwell.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Browne and their family said goodbye to 2100 Stockwell yesterday, and moved into their new home at 2315 Marilyn.

Frocked identically in turquoise silk organza over taffeta accented by large black bows, and carrying pink asters, were Miss Donna Barton of Omaha, as the maid of honor, and the bridesmaids, Miss Patricia Hare and Mrs. Keith Stewart, Albion. Family Features

BRIDGE

By B. Jay Becker

You are South, both sides vulnerable. The bidding has been:

West	North	East	South
1 ♠	Pass	Pass	?

What would you now bid with each of the following five hands?

1. ♠82 ♥Q954 ♦AJ83 ♣KJ9
2. ♠QJ73 ♥K84 ♦K95 ♣A62
3. ♠9 ♥A6 ♦K763 ♣AKQ873
4. ♠64 ♥AKJ92 ♦AQ8 ♣Q73
5. ♠J9842 ♥A10 ♦AJ4 ♣J86

1. Double. This does not quite conform to the usual requirements for a takeout double, but the situation is not usual. Whenever the bidding dies at a low level, the last player to speak (who is said to be in the balancing position) may shade his bids on the basis that the opponents have shown limited strength by their early stop.

Values can therefore be assigned to partner which it would otherwise be dangerous to assume. There is a good chance in this hand that we can make more tricks in our best contract than the opponents can in theirs. The protective double is therefore used.

2. One notrump. This is an extension of the same theory. Generally, the notrump overcall of a suit shows 16 to 18 points. But when the notrump is bid in the protective position, it may be shaded by several points. With this hand the double is not used because we are not particulary interested in suit play.

3. Three clubs. The best chance for game lies in notrump, and the jump to three clubs urges partner to bid three notrump if he has spade strength and other scattered values. There are more than ample values for a double, but the three club bid paints a clearer picture of the hand held.

4. Double. Of course, the player in the protective seat may have values with which he would have taken action even if he were not in the balancing position. As a result, when he doubles for takeout in this position with full strength, he has an obligation later to show he was not just fooling around. With a lesser hand (say, without the ace of diamonds) South would have bid two hearts directly.

5. Pass. There is no obligation for the fourth player to bid in the protective seat, and he may pass when the climate is uninviting. Here, a great deal of the steam is taken from our hand by West's spade bid.

Against any other suit bid by West we would take protective action, but the spade bid puts our hand into the defensive class, and the best thing to do is pass and hope to show up with a profit.

Dear Abby—

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: About a year ago I heard that the wife of my former minister was very ill and fading fast. I've lost all contact with my friends in that city (I moved away) and want to know how I can find out if his wife is dead yet.

You see, I am his age and have been widowed for several years. I have always thought this minister was the most wonderful man I had ever known and I can't get him out of my mind.

Can you tell me (1) How I can find out if his wife is dead yet?

(2) How I can let him know I am interested in him without appearing too forward?

INTERESTED

DEAR INTERESTED: For information about your former minister I suggest you inquire of a mutual friend. There is no way a lady can let a man know she is "interested in him" without appearing forward, particularly when she is so "interested" she can hardly wait to bury his wife.

☆ ☆ ☆

DEAR ABBY: We are four sisters. All married. When it comes Mother's Day, Father's Day or Christmas, we all pitch in and buy something real nice from the four of us.

One of the sisters has not been putting in her share for the last two occasions. She says, "Put my name on the card and I'll pay you later." She is not poor, and manages to have money for everything else. Should we skip her next time and put down our names and let our parents know how cheap she is?

SISTER IN CHARGE OF MONEY

DEAR SISTER: Dun the slow paying sister and be done with it. Why hurt your parents' feelings?

☆ ☆ ☆

DEAR ABBY: Has anyone ever been secretly married by a Justice of the Peace and then had a church wedding without announcing they have been married already? That is my case. I would like to be married in a church by my own clergyman but I have been married secretly for seven months. Would I have to tell anyone this if I preferred to keep it a secret forever?

SECRET BRIDE

DEAR SECRET BRIDE: I imagine many people have managed to keep a secret of this kind. It's your privilege.

ASK—

Dorothy Draper

Let's open your clothes closet today and see what it looks like! Unless yours is an exception there isn't room even for the proverbial skeleton. And what it needs is reorganizing and prettifying.

Personally I prefer a closet wallpapered in a gay pattern, and I'd do without all those plastic zippered bags that are such a nuisance to unzip every time you want anything. One exception might be the new zippered clear plastic 10-shelf shoebag ($4.99) which hangs up and keeps the dust from your suedes and patents.

An 8-inch hook on your closet door and wherever it will fit inside of your closet (not in interfere with the mail pole) offers an extra dividend in space. Pick out a pretty color from your wallpaper and paint the shelves. A contrasting by-the-yard edging feminizes the interior.

I saw some pretty sachet balls (some flower topped) for closets from $1. to $3. the other day which would lend your favorite scent to your clothes.

But on the practical side, most of us need to weed out the clothes we very seldom wear. Why not give them to someone who needs them? Then re-hang your suits, dresses, coats in some sort of order. You'll be amazed at what a little reshuffling can do. And a pretty closet is easier to keep neat somehow. Try it and see!

Mrs. L. V. H. asks:
"I live in a large room in a nurses' home. Walls are a soft pale green. Rug brown with delicate colored flowers (sparingly) blond table and lamp. Blond head (bookcase) board on Hollywood bed with spread of natural color with black, brown, green and white lines forming large plaid One brown chair, also one green plastic chair. Platform rocker (antique) nylon curtains. Could I use drapes? If so, what color and material would you advise? Also any other ideas to make it livable."

Dear Mrs. L. V. H.:

You need a little "blaze" of color. How about luscious tangerine curtains? Indian Head is inexpensive, washes well and doesn't fade. Could you cover that brown chair in tangerine? That would help. Get some black and pure white touches around. Green plants in white pots. Black picture frames. Have a bowl of oranges in view.

Mrs. W. R. C. asks:

"My kitchen is painted beige color, woodwork natural color. The windows have traverse rods and I wish to continue using draw drapes. What color curtains do you suggest? I have been using beige background with red."

Dear Mrs. W. R. C.:

Would you like a white background with beige and black plaid or print for a change? Or a chocolate brown with massed rows of yellow and white ric-rac braid? (easily added.)

Dance Marks End of Vacation

One of summer's last flings was a dancing party given Wednesday evening by Jerry Irwin, son of Mr. and Mrs. George F. Irwin, Jr., who entertained his ninth grade classmates at Dawes Junior High School and their dates.

Morning Ceremony

The altar of Holy Trinity Catholic Church at Heun was appointed with gold and bronze chrysanthemums on Thursday morning, Sept. 1, for the wedding of Miss Mavis Rose Dvorak, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Dvorak of Clarkson, and Lt. George L. Stears, son of Lt. Col. and Mrs. Paul A. Stears of Wichita Falls, Tex. The 10 o'clock ceremony was solemnized by the Rev. Anthony Pluhacek.

Miss Phyllis Dvorak of Clarkson, as the maid of honor, and the bridesmaid, Miss Karen Wellman of Howells, wore full-skirted frocks of russet-toned silk organza over taffeta. Miss Mary Beth Stears of Wichita Falls, was the flower girl.

Serving as best man was Jack Stears of Wichita Falls, and seating the guests were Frank Holub, Omaha; Jon Dvorak and David Yostin, Clarkson; and Frank Dvorak, Lincoln.

For her wedding, the bride chose a gown of white Alencon lace and satin. The long sleeved bodice of lace was designed with a portrait neckline, highlighted with iridescent paillettes and pearls, and below the Empire waist, the satin skirt flared to cotillion length and tapered at the back into a whisper train beneath a modified pouf bustle. A jeweled crown held her veil of silk illusion, and she carried a petite bouquet of gardenias.

The couple left for Alabama where Lt. Stears will be stationed at Craig Air Force Base. He is a graduate of the University of Nebraska and a member of Delta Sigma Phi. Mrs. Stears attended the University of Nebraska where she is a member of Kappa Delta sorority and Mu Phi Epsilon national music sorority.

Stan Delaplane's POSTCARD

The forest-fire smoke cleared away from Reno. And this morning, when I looked out the window, the sky was blue as washed denim. The sunlight was bouncing off the rushing Truckee river like new silver dollars.

As usual, a fisherman was wading in the icy water—you can see the trout but they are city-wise and hard to catch. A couple of small boys were peering hopefully over the bridge, looking for wedding rings.

"It is supposed to be a custom to toss your wedding ring into the Truckee after your divorce," said Mr. Walter Ramage, the Reno innkeeper. "But few ladies throw away jewelry these unromantic days. They are more apt to take the ring down to lower Virginia street to pawn it."

☆ ☆ ☆

The average divorce in Reno costs $150 for the attorney. Plus the living costs of six weeks' residence required by Nevada.

To ease this nudge, a good many divorcees work as shills.

A shill is a peculiar item of the gambling business—a player using house money to keep the tables looking busy.

"A shill is usually a lady," said Mr. Ramage. "The gambling industry has learned that men bet higher in front of a lady. It is a shot in the arms to the male ego.

"You can tell a shill in several ways. First, she is not allowed to carry a purse—we trust the ladies but we do not put temptation in their way. Without a purse, a shill cannot pick up samples."

A shill, he said, must stack her silver dollars in the table rack. Five by five, crossways.

"When a shill reaches for a cigarette or a handkerchief, she must brush her hands together with open palms. This prevents palming of money."

The shill gets $5 to $6 a day. She works about two hours at a stretch. As soon as a table has attracted two or more legitimate customers, the shill moves on to a table without players.

Marriage is 5-to-1 better than divorce business in "The Biggest little City in the World."

There are 5000 divorces a year, 25,000 weddings.

The city's three Justice of Peace posts presently are the hottest election contests.

"The Justices of the Peace get the major part of the wedding business," said Mr. Ramage. "The fee is $10. At the rate of 25,000 weddings a year, you can see that this is very good odds."

At his Mapes Hotel, Mr. Ramage offers a package deal: "We furnish a wedding ceremony, witnesses, flowers, champagne supper and the bridal suite for $50. Naturally," said Mr. Ramage, "at that price we must serve domestic champagne. But we wrap it in a napkin. The guests don't see the label."

There is a seasonal quality to both weddings and divorces. Both go up in the summer.

The greatest rise in the balmy summer, however, is in divorces. While marriage statistics rise a third, divorce rates double in July and August.

One of the liveliest places in Reno is the Western Union office—probably the biggest little Western Union office in the world.

I went over this gay morning to send a wire and, as usual, had to stand in line.

"People are either wiring for money. Or inquiring if money they wired for has come in," said the harried counter girl.

"Then we have a big traffic in 'Just Married' wires.

"The longest wires are from girls asking why their separate maintenance payments are late. They ask why. Then they tell the man what a heel he is. And it takes them a lot of words to cover the ground."

THREE TO WORK ON CIVIL DEFENSE EDUCATION

Three educators in the Nebraska Department of Education have been appointed to carry out an experimental program in adult civil defense education, Dr. F. B. Decker, state commissioner of education announced Wednesday.

The one-year program will be sponsored by the Civil Defense Administration and the U.S. Office of Education.

The coordinator will be Ely C. Feistner, former principal of the Nebraska City Junior-Senior High School. The instructors will be Paul Belz, former superintendent of Logan County Schools, and Harry H. Hilton, former superintendent of Herman schools.

Dr. Decker said the principal purpose of the program is to try to instill into adults the urgency for more interest in civil defense.

Nebraska, because of its strategic position, is one of the 8 states selected to carry on the program. It will start in mid September, and will involve the establishment of a series of instructional courses totaling 15 hours for teachers and other interested persons in Nebraska communities.

Persons completing the course will in turn give a 12-hour course to adults in these communities.

Hamilton, Ont. (AP) — An Anglican bishop from India says many Westerners show a patronizing attitude toward the Indian people and that this weakens the cause of Christianity. Wheel Chair Doesn't Stop Shickley Baseball Boss

By Dean Terrill
Southeast Nebraska Bureau

Shickley—Wheel chair on a baseball field?

Not only that, but if it weren't for that wheel chair and its occupant there would probably be no baseball for boys in this Fillmore County community.

For at least a decade there wasn't, but Dave Clift changed all that. The town needed a manager to get a team started—and he needed an interest to replace the bad moments which have followed a disabling auto crash two years ago.

High School Athlete

A baseball and basketball player in his high school days in Oklahoma, the 29-year-old organizer is something of a "playing manager" despite his handicap. Daily practice sessions with his 22 young charges have seen him hitting infield grounders or throwing batting practice, both from his wheel chair.

"I enjoy the workouts more than the boys do, and they give me something to do," Clift remarked. "I spend most of my time now on a correspondence course in business administration, so the baseball is a real break."

The regular season's 3-3 record for his team won the town's approval, but was overshadowed by its appreciation of the manager personally.

"He has done these boys a lot of good and the whole town is proud of him for it," said August Neuhaus, businessman who recruited Clift for the job.

A drive is now underway, he commented, to obtain a fund for rewarding the manager's efforts.

One thing the wheelchair hasn't slowed is Clift's sideline enthusiasm. He keeps up a constant chatter to the players, punctuated with all sorts of hand and arm gestures.

"Some things I can't do of course, and I've had help from the local basketball coach, Al Lowe," he commented. "Then I have an awfully good bat boy to do my running for me."

The bat boy who caught his smile was his attractive wife, Joyce.

Wheel Chair Manager

Dave Clift may have a pair of bad legs, but baseball enthusiasts at Shickley say it's a mighty good hand who's been running their baseball team. Congratulations from Clift are going here to pitcher Jerry Witt, right, for his win over Strang. Other players, from left, are Donnie Hansen and Dennis Stollzenburg. (Star Staff Photo.)

Groucho Wants Equal Fun Time

Washington (UPI)—Groucho Marx Thursday demanded "equal time" with Jack Paar in televising appearances by Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Sen. John F. Kennedy.

He said their "exclusive" appearances on the late-night Paar show discriminated against Groucho's evening comedy program.

Groucho, or more likely his press agent, sent his presumably facetious protest to the two candidates and also to Rep. Oren Harris, (D-Ark), chairman of the House Commerce Committee.

Harris read Groucho's telegram to the House and said, "it does raise the question of equal time in a different light."

EXECUTED RED IS RESTORED TO HERO PEDESTAL

Moscow (AP)—The State Publishing House Thursday issued a 132-page biography of Marshal Vassily Konstantinovich Blucher, one of the Soviet Union's greatest military heroes who was executed as an alleged traitor in the Stalin purges of 1938.

The memory of Blucher already had been rehabilitated, along with many other once-disgraced military men. He was hailed once more as a hero in ceremonies at Minsk in 1956. The biography, written by V. Bushenkin, is the first major work on him, however.

Marshal Blucher, under the name of Galen, served as the chief military adviser of Chiang Kai-shek in China until Chiang broke with the Communists in 1927. After that he commanded the Red banner Far Eastern Army until his death.

Something Can Be Done For Arthritics

Contrary to what many people believe, there is much that can be done to help millions suffering from arthritic and rheumatic diseases, according to findings resulting from more than seven years of clinical research in this field, costing nearly a million dollars.

There are several types of treatment for arthritis and rheumatism which can relieve minor pain and muscle spasm in varying degrees in many of the eleven million Americans suffering from these diseases.

This relief from pain and muscle spasm, even though temporary, is very important in helping these people maintain their daily activities. If a patient can be helped to live more comfortably and effectively, a great deal is accomplished.

For example, a top research team working at one of the nation's leading hospitals dedicated to the treatment of arthritic diseases, recently completed a study in which Cyclo-Massage® equipment by Niagara® was tested under both hospital and home-use conditions on a group of adults suffering from chronic rheumatoid arthritis.

The study revealed that the use of cyclo-massage therapy, on chronic rheumatoid arthritics, was proven to be simple, safe and effective in the cases studied. There was an immediate, repeatable, beneficial effect of treatment in that minor pain, muscle spasm and stiffness diminished in nearly all instances which lasted from 45 minutes to several hours or more. After the use of cyclo-massage therapy, the activities of daily living and therapeutic exercises were performed with less difficulty.

The prime objective in this disease is to help maintain mobility or the activities of daily living—simple activities such as combing hair, tying shoes, common housework—regardless of what method is used. However, the important thing is that something can be done, and should be done, to provide symptomatic relief for many suffering from these diseases.

The clinical data and research findings resulting from this study have been condensed into an easy-to-read and understand information booklet published by the Niagara Therapy Manufacturing Corporation. Niagara is the leading producer of mechanical equipment combining mechanical massage and heat for hospitals, clinics, and the general public.

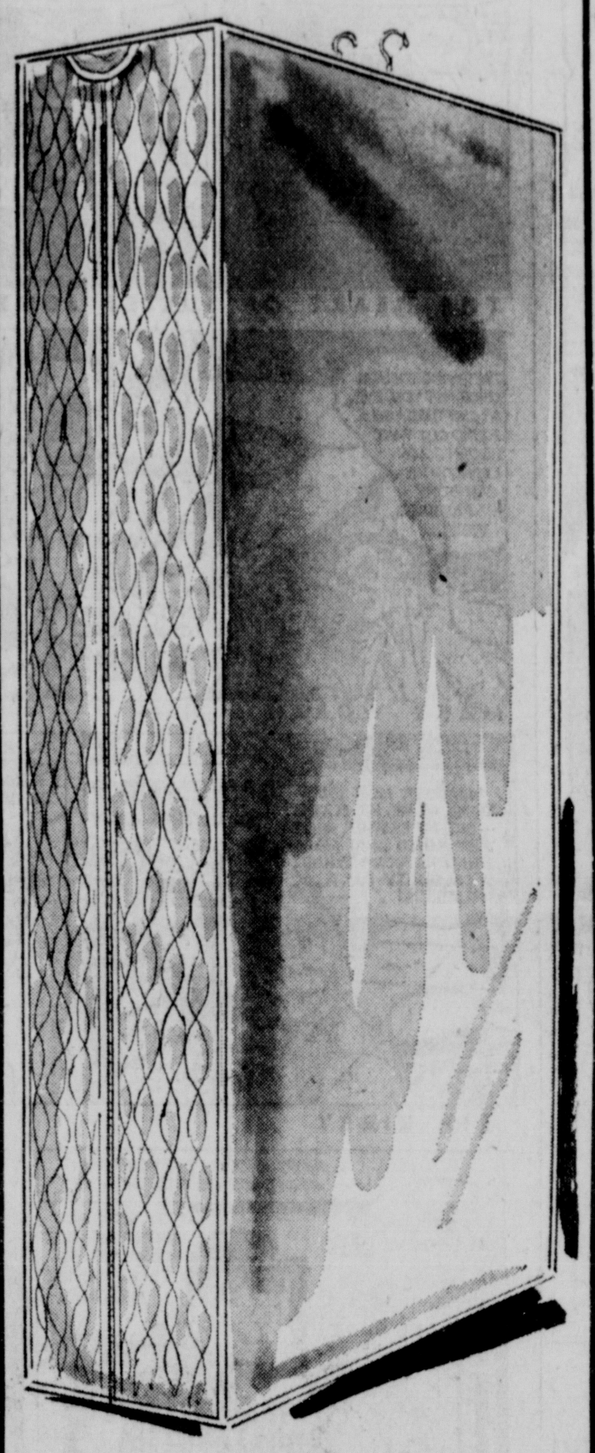

A copy of this booklet may be obtained by writing to Niagara of Nebraska, Post Office Box 624, Lincoln, Nebr.

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key number left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures gives you. Miami Ousts Hastings, 8-0

. . . Reverse Opening Win

By Larry Novicki

Hastings, Neb. — Today coach Ollie Smith of Hastings High School has 6 more football players.

Until Thursday night these 6 played baseball for Earl Applebee in the American Legion Little World Series at Duncan Field here.

Hastings was eliminated from the series Thursday night by a scrappy club from Miami, Fla. Score was 8-0.

Pittsfield, Mass., became the tourney's only undefeated team by downing New Orleans, 4-1, in the nightcap.

Hastings was the second team ousted in the double elimination affair Thursday. Billings, Mont., knocked out Brooklawn, N.J., in the afternoon as lefty Dave McNally fanned 15 in a 5-3 win.

The Hastings-Miami contest, played before 5,000 hometown faithful, was a direct turnabout of Monday night's first round 8-0 shutout won by the Nebraskans.

Most of the credit for the Miami victory went to a pint-sized pitcher named Julian Peeples.

Only 5-8 and 137 pounds, Peeples wielded every ounce of his physique in a near-flawless performance.

Peeples had the hometowners popping out and dribbling out all night. He held the Nebraska legion champs to 3 scrawny singles.

Hastings ended its season with a 45-10 record.

The Florida club came through in the clutch. Timely hitting and daring running put the stranglehold on Hastings, which committed 7 errors.

In the second inning, a single, a walk and Jerry Reisman's two-run single sent Miami ahead 2-0.

The Resort City crew added another run in the 4th on a walk, a wild pitch by Hastings starter Sam Hoagland and Peeples' single to right.

In the 6th, Barry Taylor opened with a double and came around on two Hastings errors. Two more errors, another hit by Reisman and a walk brought in two more runs.

Three more Hastings errors in the 9th accounted for the final 2 tallies.

Hastings had the sacks loaded in the first and 4th innings, but Peeples came through to squelch the threats with deceptive finesse.

Al Curtis, Larry Uhrmacher and Hoagland got the only Hastings hits. Uhrmacher's slice to left was the only solid blow.

Hoagland, who was bothered by a sore shoulder, suffered his first loss of the season. He'd won 15.

Huskers Hit Bug Bites, But Torrid Heat Hurts

. . . First Casualty Overcome By Weather

By Don Bryant

"We can do something about the mosquitoes, but we can't do anything about the heat!"

With those words, Nebraska football coach Bill Jennings referred to the combination of trouble which plagued the Cornhuskers' first day of fall camp.

A spray crew attacked the mosquitoes twice Thursday, prompting Jennings to say, "They were giving us fits, but the second spraying got 'em. At least, it helped a lot."

In an effort to combat the buzzing mosquitoes, the Huskers donned long-sleeved jerseys. But while those prevented some bites, they added to the heat.

"We just have to take it a little easier," Jennings said as he chopped 25 minutes off the afternoon session. "We'll only work about an hour and a half from here on."

Lose Weight

Testifying to the torrid pace, was the fact that end Dick McDaniel dropped 16 pounds and tackle Roland McDole shed 12 pounds during the first workout.

"Of course, that's just water and a temporary loss," Jennings said. "But it shows how the heat is affecting us."

Trainer Paul Schneider said the average weight loss in the morning session was 15 pounds per man.

Tyrone Robertson, who got an overdose of sun in the morning, was taken to Student Health where he was confined Thursday night.

Two Newcomers

Addition of two tackles swelled the roster to 58 Thursday. Reporting were Jim Raschke, Omaha junior, and Bill Schachel, soph from Rock Island, Ill.

Jennings announced that first-day absentees Jim Burd and Al Richards would not join the squad. Burd informed the coach Thursday that he was not returning to school.

Good Condition

Practice observers Thursday were impressed by the apparent good physical condition of the Huskers and Jennings affirmed the fact.

"We're considerably ahead of the conditioning pace at this point, compared to the last 3 years," Bill said. "The boys, with only a couple of exceptions, are in good condition. We sent out summer letters—and it looks like they read them."

Good Sign

Lettermen manned all spots on the first unit during the afternoon session, but Jennings said this was apt to change daily.

"We hope to do a lot of juggling up and down," Bill said. "We don't want to do much position-changing, but we want boys fighting their way up all the time. We've never been able to have this before—we always knew who was going to play."

Only two position experiments are slated to continue, Bill indicated.

Omaha soph John Faiman was back at quarterback in the afternoon, but Jennings said he planned "to keep experimenting with him at right halfback, just as we are trying to settle Bill Macdonald at either left end or left guard.

"We want to decide very quickly where they'll play," he added.

Referring to Faiman, Jennings said, "He's too good a football player to leave out of our plans."

Three Deeps

Here's the way the Huskers lined up Thursday afternoon:

Centers—Don Fricke, Mick Tingelhoff, Bob Kitchen.

Right guards—Dick Kosier, Gary Toogood, Dwain Carlson.

Right tackles—Roland McDole, Bob Jones, Archie Cobb.

Right ends—Don Purcell, Pat Salerno, John Bond.

Quarterbacks—Pat Fischer, Ron Meade, Dennis Claridge.

Right halfbacks—Clay White, Warren Powers, Dennis Steuwe.

Fullbacks—Noel Martin, Bill Thornton, Dal Dyer.

Swimmers In 3 Victories

THOMAS, YANK SPRINTERS SUFFER DEFEATS

Rome, (AP) — John Thomas lost the high jump to Russia in a stunning upset and America was beaten in its 100-meter sprint speciality Thursday but the swimmers helped to restore some of the United States Olympic sports prestige with 3 gold medals.

After Thomas' shocking defeat and the triumph of Germany's fleet Armin Hary in the 100-meter dash, the United States men's 400-meter medley relay team won a gold medal in world record time and Chris Von Saltza cracked the Olympic mark while winning the women's 400-meter freestyle swim.

Then the men's 800-meter freestyle relay team also smashed a world swimming mark by more than 6 seconds with a 8:10.2 clocking. Jeff Farrell, the Wichita, Kan., ace who almost missed the trip because of an appendectomy, swam the anchor leg on both winning relay teams.

Cagers Romp

America's powerful basketball team coasted to a 104-42 romp over Yugoslavia for its 4th straight victory and first in the semifinal round. It was strictly no contest with the U.S. leading 32-1 at one stage.

Despite the 3 gold medals won by the swimmers, the U.S. still trailed with a total of 7 to Russia's 12 firsts. Six of the American medals are in swimming. In the unofficial point standings, Russia had 219½ points, the U.S. 153 and Germany 121.

Thomas, the 19-year-old Cambridge, Mass., youth who was regarded as the surest of bets for a gold medal, missed 3 times at 7 feet 1 inch, a height he has cleared many times before.

Olympic Mark

Robert Shavladkadze and Valeriy Brumel of Russia both made 7-1 and Shavladkadze won the gold medal when both failed at 7-1¾ because he had fewer misses on the way up. It was an Olympic record for the remarkable pair, but short of Thomas' world mark of 7-3¾.

Thomas managed to get 3rd place and the bronze medal.

Hary proved himself the world's best sprinter by winning the 100-meter final despite an heroic lunging finish by Dave Sime of Durham, N.C. Both were timed in 10.2 seconds which tied Hary's own Olympic record set Thursday.

This was a black day all around for the American track team which came to ancient Rome with high hopes of winning 10 to 15 gold medals. Now it has won only one of the first 3, Thursday's shot put.

The high jump battle held a crowd of 75,000 on edge in the vast Olympic Stadium long after dusk.

4-Way Fight

For a time it was 4-way fight with Viktor Bolshov of Russia hanging in grimly with the leaders. He, like Thomas, failed at 7-1 and took 4th place, again on a matter of misses.

The first part of the double disaster was launched by Hary, the slender blond German whose start is so fast that many people think he jumps the gun.

It was a highly nervous field of 6 that lined up in the bright Roman sunlight. There was a false start and a recall, while American coaches tried to argue that Hary should have been disqualified.

No Jump

No one could accuse Hary of jumping the gun when they finally raced for keeps.

Hary sped into the lead at the start and never relinquished it. With 10 meters to go, Hary was out in front and the 5 others were only inches apart. Then Sime unleased a superhuman effort and, if it did not quite catch Hary, at least it earned the former Duke star an equal time of 10.2 seconds.

Third place went to Peter Radford of Great Britain, 4th to Enrique Figueroa of Cuba and 5th to Frank Budd of Asbury Park, N.J., all in the same time of 10.3. Sixth and last was the pre-meet favorite, Ray Norton of Oakland, Calif. in 10.4.

Hary is co-holder of the world record of 10 seconds flat. The man who shares that mark with him, Harry Jerome of Canada, pulled up lame in the semifinals.

Russians Again

Irina Press of Russia won the women's 80-meter hurdles in 10.8 seconds and Elvira Ozolina of Russia won the javelin title with a toss of 183 feet 8 inches, which exceeded the Olympic record of 176-8½. There were no U.S. girl qualifiers in the hurdles finals Karen Oldham of San Diego, Calif. finished 13th in the javelin with a toss of 152-7½.

Disaster struck American hopes on wide fronts.

The 3 crack American 800-meter men—Tom Murphy of Brooklyn, Jerry Siebert of Willits, Calif. and Ernie Cunliffe of Claremont, Calif., all failed to get by the semifinals.

In rowing on historic Lake Albano the U.S. managed to get into 3 finals and 2 semifinals by winning repechage (2nd chance) heats after losing the 1st races. The Navy 8-man crew gets its 2nd chance today but the double sculls pair of Jack Kelly, Jr. and Bill Knecht of Philadelphia was eliminated. Russia had four finalists and a chance for 4 more.

Hurdlers Win

On the bright side for the U.S. all 3 400-meter hurdle men qualified for the finals

BRAND ADVANCES

Rome (AP) — Dan Brand of Bellevue, former University of Nebraska ace, was one of 7 Americans who won Olympic freestyle wrestling matches in the first round Thursday.

Brand, a light heavyweight, pinned Maurice Jacquel of France.

Nothing To Chance

When it comes to football, the West Point Cadets don't leave anything to chance.

Army will play Nebraska at Memorial Stadium on Oct. 15—and the Kaydets will have been thoroughly briefed about what to expect in Cornhuskerland.

Thursday two West Point officers were in Lincoln on a scouting mission. And they weren't worrying about Nebraska's offense or defense.

Major J. M. Minor and Capt. Robert Wetzel—West Point brass—were taken in tow by Col. V. R. Rawie, skipper of NU's ROTC program, and given a cook's tour of Husker facilities.

Minor, who played for D. X. Bible at Texas, is an athletic department assistant, while Wetzel is aide to West Point superintendent Maj. Gen. W. C. Westmoreland.

Col. Rawie explained the visit was "standard procedure with the Army team.

"Capt. Wetzel was checking on billets for some of the Cadets who will accompany General Westmoreland," he said.

"The superintendent always likes to take some Cadets from the opponent's area when he goes to a game. The captain also visited with Chancellor Hardin in order to check on seating arrangements and things like that."

Major Minor had other chores, Col. Rawie said.

"The major looked over the locker room and training room facilities and the turf," he said. "Since Army plays California and Pittsburgh, they stopped by here on the way back to West Point from Berkeley."

Lucky Break

Speaking of the West Point invasion, the Cornhuskers are assured of one king-sized "break" before the game even begins—Army isn't going to ship the Cadet Corps to Lincoln.

After watching the Kaydets whoop it up in Miche Stadium in 1957, I know why Army is always a feared opponent. When it comes to noise, the Cadet Corps is undisputed champion. Nebraska never recovered from the opening roar which took place when the Army team trotted on the field.

Talk about unison—the Cadets even breath by the number.

Col. Rawie reports the Army will bring 40 players and some 30 Cadet rooters.

"There will be about 15 Cadets from Nebraska and another 15 from this area, as well as some senior members of the Corps like the First Captain," the Colonel said.

Even with small numbers, I can assure NU grid fans that the West Point delegation will add colorful entertainment to the Oct. 15th program.

Army Is Year Away

How about the Army team?

"While Army feels it is about a year away from being a great team," Col. Rawie said, "the two officers felt the team would put on a good show. With Bob Anderson and Joe Caldwell gone, they think Tom Blanda is going to be the top back."

Col. Rawie — who admits to having divided loyalties in regard to the Nebraska-Army game—said the thing that surprised him most about the West Pointers' visit "was the knowledge they had about the Nebraska team."

"They had quite a bit of information and were very high on Thunder Thornton," he said. "They told me that coaches at Army indicated Thornton would be as good as Oklahoma's Prentice Gautt this year and would be better than Gautt next season."

Other Nebraska players that are giving Army concern, according to the major and the captain, are Pat Fischer, Bennie Dillard and Bernie Clay.

One thing is certain: in war, peace and football games, the Army's motto is "preparedness."

Bucs Use Hits, Nip Giants 6-1

San Francisco (AP) — Roberto Clemente's 3-run homer plus Clem Labine's steady relief pitching brought National League leading Pittsburgh a 6-1 victory over San Francisco Thursday despite a 14-hit Giant attack.

Clemente's 2nd homer in 2 days came in the 1st inning off starter and loser Georges Maranda, who stopped one of the many Giant scoring chances when he failed to touch third base in the 4th inning

The 5th place Giants left 15 men stranded on the bases. They pounded Harvey Haddix for 10 hits in 5½ innings, but the little lefthander picked up his 10th victory in 18 decisions. Pittsburgh got 10 hits.

Lincoln's Al Brice Stops Green Bay

. . . Chiefs Romp, 7-2

Lincoln Star Special

Green Bay, Wis. — A pair of scratch singles in the bottom of the 9th separated Al Brice from a shutout as Lincoln finished its season series with Green Bay here Thursday night with a 7-2 victory.

Victory gave the Chiefs a 10-10 split with Green Bay in the season. The contest ended Lincoln's eastern road play in the Three-I League.

The Chiefs return to Sherman Field Saturday night for a 4-game stand with Topeka, then move to the Kansas city next Tuesday for the season's final series.

Al Weis, Dean Look and Al Alvarez packed the punch in Lincoln's 12-hit attack against the Dodgers Thursday night.

Weis homered on the second pitch of the game and set the Chiefs a-running. Look smacked a 2-run homer in the 9th inning and Alvarez doubled home two more in the second.

These outbursts were more than enough for Brice, who had the Dodgers blanked on 6 hits until the 9th.

Chuck Julian poked a single and Brice walked the bases loaded. Jim Barbieri's blooper over shortstop plated one run and Fran Boniar's roller sent home the final Green Bay tally.

Brice notched his 10th victory against 6 setbacks while Green Bay's Ron Hubbard took his 10th loss.

Lincoln manager Ira Hutchinson tabbed Ron Woods (16-8) to open the Sherman Field series against Topeka. The Chiefs are idle tonight, traveling home.

LOI CAPTURES WORLD CROWN

Milan, Italy (AP) — Italy's European welterweight champion Duilio Loi won the world junior welterweight crown Thursday night by outpointing Carlos Ortiz of Puerto Rico in a 15 round fight.

Loi, who was narrowly defeated by Ortiz in their 1st title fight in San Francisco last June, took a severe body beating through the earlier rounds.

SPIVEY SEEKS COURT ACTION

New York (AP) — Denied the right Thursday to play in the National Basketball Assn., Bill Spivey, 7-foot former Kentucky star, will carry his fight to the courts.

Spivey, a great college player until his alleged involvement in the basketball scandals of the early 1950's, was wanted by the Cincinnati Royals for the 1960-61 season.

Spivey never was convicted of any wrong doings. He has played in minor league pro clubs, but yearned to get into big circuit.

Maurice Podoloff, president of the NBA, advised the Royals' management that he would not approve a contract with Spivey.

Hartmann's Death Blow To Creighton

Omaha, (UPI)—Creighton University basketball coach John J. (Red) McManus Thursday expressed the shock of saddened university members and students over the death of Richard Hartmann, 23, Creighton basketball star.

"The feeling of sadness could not be any deeper if it had been a member of my immediate family killed," McManus said upon learning that the 6-foot, 8-inch center had died in a one-car accident near Hillman, Minn., early Thursday.

SNIDER'S HIT DOWNS PHILS

Los Angeles (AP) — Pinch hitter Duke Snider singled in the 11th inning with the bases full Thursday night to give Los Angeles a 3-2 victory over Philadelphia.

Yank Swimmers Regain Some Olympic Prestige

—Glenn Davis, the defending champ from Columbus, Ohio, taking his heat in 51.1 seconds and Cliff Cushman of Grand Forks, N.D., and Dick Howard of Albuquerque, N.M. Cushman won his heat in 50.8 seconds with Howard at his side.

The American women tracksters, too, looked good. Tall Wilma Rudolph of Clarksville, Tenn., won her 2nd round heat in the 100-meter dash in 11.5 and Barbara Jones of Nashville, Tenn., qualified by placing 2nd in another heat.

George Kerr of the British West Indies and the University of Illinois, looked powerful in setting an Olympic 800 record of 1:47.1. The old record was held by Tom Courtney of the U.S. who won in 1956 at 1:47.7.

Deacon Jones of Iowa City, Iowa was the only U.S. qualifier for Saturday's final of the 3,000-meter steeplechase.

Farrell did a tremendous job for the American swimmers, doubling up in the relays.

Larson Leads

In the 400-meter medley event in which the U.S. broke its own world record with a 4:05.2 clocking, Farrell protected a lead given him by Lance Larson, who swam the butterfly leg.

Larson is the young man from El Monte, Calif., whose disputed defeat by Australia's John Devitt in the 100-meter freestyle last week caused such an uproar. Frank McKinney of Indianapolis swam the backstroke leg and Paul Hait of San Jose, Calif., the breaststroke.

Scarcely an hour later, Farrell took over the final leg of the 800-meter relay with a 4-meter lead and held it against the efforts of Japan's Tatsuo Fujimoto and Australia's John Konrads.

George Harrison of Orinda, Calif., Dick Blick of Bakersfield, Calif. and Mike Troy of Indianapolis handled the first 3 legs. Blick provided the big part of the victory margin.

Milwaukee Blows Belt Cubs, 10-1

Chicago (AP) — Ramming out 7 extra base hits including a pair of home runs by Joe Adcock and another by Bill Bruton, the Milwaukee Braves crushed the Chicago Cubs 10-1 Thursday

Bob Buhl, supported adequately by an 11-hit attack, limited the Cubs to 6 hits for his 13th victory against 8 losses.

Milwaukee wasted no time with starter Dick Drott, who was tagged with his 6th loss and has yet to win this season. Bruton opened the game with a triple, Del Crandall doubled and scored on a sacrifice fly by Al Dark.

Cincinnati (AP) — Vada Pinson struck out his first two times at bat Thursday night but his 3-run homer in the 7th was the decisive blow as the Cincinnati Reds defeated the St. Louis Cardinals 7-4.

Pinson's big wallop broke a 3-3 tie. It knocked the Cards out of second place in the National League and gave Bob Purkey his 15th pitching victory of the season as against 8 defeats. Purkey was aided by 4 double plays.

Pinson's homer came off Cards' starter and loser Bob Gibson after a walk to Willie Jones and a single by Purkey.

Missouri Hit Early By Knee Injury

. . . Mitchell Sets Kansas Lineup

Columbia, Mo. (AP) — A knee injured Thursday on the 1st day of football practice sent Missouri sophomore quarterback Daryl Krugman to the university hospital for an operation.

Coach Dan Devine said he did not know how long Krugman would be off the squad.

The Tigers worked twice in full equipment. Devine said there may be some scrimmage today.

Jayhawks Set

Lawrence, Kan. (AP) — The Kansas Jayhawks opened football practice Thursday with coach Jack Mitchell apparently pretty well set on the line-up he will start against Texas Christian here Sept. 17.

In the No. 1 backfield were quarterback John Hadl, left half Bert Coan, right half Curtis McClinton and fullback Doyle Schick. In the line were ends Sam Simpson and Larry Allen, tackles Dick Davis and Stan Kirshman, guards Benny Boydston and Elvin Basham and center Fred Mageman.

47 At K-State

Manhattan, Kan. (AP)—Forty-seven candidates for the Kansas State football squad, including 18 lettermen, reported to their new coach, Doug Weaver, Thursday.

Fundamentals occupied both morning and afternoon drills, with the players wearing shorts in the extreme heat.

Weaver plans twice-a-day workouts until Sept. 9, and has a full-game scrimmage set for Sept. 10. The Wildcats' first game will be in Manhattan Sept. 17 against South Dakota State.

Cowboys Run

Stillwater, Okla. (AP) — Oklahoma State, looking toward its first Big Eight Conference football season, hit the practice pits on the run.

Coach Cliff Speegle ran 46 players through spirited morning and afternoon drills. Four men, including regular end Billy Dodson, missed due to minor ailments.

Sooners Hold Contact

Norman, Okla. (AP) — Oklahoma didn't waste much time, swinging right into contact work as 2-a-day drills opened for the defending Big Eight Conference champions.

Coach Bud Wilkinson watched closely as some of his springtime hospital cases worked on defense.

Particularly important to the Sooner plans are quarterback Jimmy Carpenter, who underwent leg surgery, and sophomore guard Leon Cross, out 2 years with foot and knee injuries. Both went full speed on several plays without a limp.

Cyclones Defense

Ames, Iowa (AP) — Football coach Clay Stapleton started work to regain Iowa State's position of 2 years ago when the Cyclones were first on pass defense in the Big Eight Conference.

Most of the day's drills were devoted to defense and Stapleton said he planned to keep at it until the middle of next week. Work on stopping both running and passing attacks was emphasized.

Buffs Hot

Boulder, Colo. (AP) — Ninety-six degree heat made it a hot opening day of football practice for the University of Colorado Buffaloes.

The 64 candidates held light conditioning exercises in the first of their 2-a-day drills.

Coach Sonny Grandelius, plagued by an attack of influenza, missed the opening workouts. He had a 104-degree fever Wednesday, but was reported improving.

TRIBE DROPS ATHLETICS, 7-3

Kansas City (AP)—Cleveland pounded out a 7-3 victory over the cellar dwelling Kansas City Athletics Thursday night as John Romano led the attack with a home run and 2 singles.

Barry Latman, the Cleveland pitcher, was walloped for 15 hits but managed to last the full 9 innings for his 4th victory.

Anti-Americanism Matter Of Opinion At Olympics

. . . CHEERS FOR CONNOLLYS INDICATE BITTERNESS LACKING

Rome (AP) — The perpetual honeymooners of the U.S. Olympic team — Hal and Olga Connolly — are greeted by a spontaneous chorus of cheers in the Olympic Stadium here.

For a moment they looked stunned. And then greatly pleased.

Hal and the former Czech discus thrower Olga fell in love at the Melbourne Olympic Games in 1956.

After considerable difficulties with the Czech Communist government they were finally married.

They now have a son, staying with Hal's mother in Boston during the Olympics.

And while the Games are on, Hal has to live in the men's section of the Olympic Village while his wife resides in the women's compound.

But they meet for breakfast every morning.

After the meal, they stroll down the main street of the village unashamedly holding hands.

And that's the way they enter the stadium — still holding hands.

The Italians love it — and respond with a cheer.

"See," said an American reporter, "these big crowds have no anti-American feeling. In fact, it's just the opposite."

Some American athletes and officials have said publicly and privately that some of the Olympic judges are anti-American.

Frankly, some of the judging has appeared to go consistently against athletes from the United States.

Asked about anti-Americanism, Art Lentz of New York, assistant executive director of the U.S. Olympic Committee said:

"If there is any anti-American feeling in Rome, it's in the officiating and not from the crowds."

He recalled the warm welcome the American team received at the inaugural parade last week.

"But for one reason or another," he said, "some of our people feel that some of the judges have it in for us. That if you're an American and want to win a medal, you have to be extra, extra good."

He thought for a moment and said:

"No. We're being well treated here. It could be, you know, that we're super sensitive sometimes."

Omaha U. Gridders Begin Checking Out

Omaha, (UPI) — University of Omaha football coach Al Caniglia is busy this week checking out equipment in advance of the pre-season workouts which open Monday.

Caniglia will have 18 lettermen, more than in any recent year, available in his attempt to improve on the 1-7 record the Indians posted in 1959. The new coach, who was an assistant last year, predicted victory in about half of his 1960 contests.

DREAM STREET

Pittsburgh's Pennant Place, located just outside of Forbes Field, appears destined to live up to its name this year if the Pittsburgh Pirates can keep up their current National League pace. The thoroughfare was named hopefully in 1913 after the Pirates finished second in 1912. No use — 4th place in 1913. The Bucs did win in 1925 and again in 1927, but not since. Is this the year?

Shot Win Fulfilled Nieder's 2 Desires

. . . WANTED MEDAL, TO BEAT O'BRIEN

Rome (AP) — Bill Nieder, the giant Kansas Army lieutenant, had two burning desires at the Olympic Games.

One was to win the Olympic shot put crown. The other was to make his teammate and rival, Parry O'Brien, eat some unkind words.

Nieder achieved both.

He won the shot with 64-6¾ for a new Olympic record. O'Brien, the two-time Olympic champion from California, was second with 62-8⅜.

"When I first broke the world record in Texas earlier this year, Parry said it didn't matter, that I was no good in competition, or when the chips were down.

"I had to prove to him and to the world that I did not choke up on big meets."

Nieder won the hard way. O'Brien went into the lead at the start, and as Nieder said, "I was getting a little nervous after failing on my first 4 throws.

"But on the 5th throw I was relaxed and I knew I had a good one because I had a lot of finger snap in it."

Nieder revealed he got off an amazing putt of 67-1, far beyond even his own world record of 65-7, in practice last Saturday, "but I was afraid to tell anyone about it."

He said he plans to marry a Chicago airlines hostess, Barbara Huffman, on Halloween night, spend a year in Germany with the Army and then go into the insurance business.

O'Brien said Nieder deserved the Olympic title because "he has been throwing better than I have all year."

The deposed champion, winner in 1952 and 1956, said "it was a most enjoyable competition."

O'Brien said he also planned to quit competition and concentrate on making a living. He is in the banking business in Los Angeles.

IN NEBRASKA:

Lewis-Clark Choice For Recreation

(Editors Note: The following feature was prepared by the Nebraska Game Commission.)

The Mythical Nebraska Navy is landlocked no more.

Long a source of humorous remarks, the Navy is composed of nothing but dry-land admirals, with rank bestowed by the governor.

But admirals and ordinary sailors alike are now finding plenty of room for maneuvers in Nebraska.

Once labeled part of the great American desert, the state now has an estimated 969 square miles of water surface—an area ¾ the size of Rhode Island.

Some 15,000 Nebraskans have turned sailor and joined the rush to the water. The Nebraska boating boom has been chiefly encouraged by the department of large reservoirs for hydroelectric power, irrigation, and stream control.

Boating has also increased on large streams, such as the Missouri River.

Lewis and Clark Lake, which backs up 37 miles behind Gavins Point Dam on the Missouri River, is typical of the large Nebraska reservoirs.

Located on the Nebraska-South Dakota border, the reservoir is 5 miles southwest of Yankton, S.D.

Sailboats, motorboats, cabin cruisers — they all ply the 33,000 acres of the lake.

More than 100 miles of rugged shore line offer camping sites and scenery. Sheer, chalk-rock bluffs rise to bound the lake, pines, cottonwoods, willows, and oaks embroider the surrounding area.

Fishing is tops. Most fishermen prefer the south side tail waters. This area has a sandy beach and a boat ramp.

The Weigand boat basin has an excellent swimming area and a concession stand where groceries, sandwiches, boats, motors, and water skis are available.

When completely developed, the state will have 10 recreation grounds along the shores of Lewis and Clark, and several areas below the dam.

The area is a favorite for migrating waterfowl — and for hunters. Deer and upland game birds, too, offer fair prey for the hunter.

Wright Ahead

Grossinger, N.Y. (AP) — Mickey Wright matched par 72 for the second straight day to hold a 3-stroke lead in the $7,500 ladies PGA open tourney Friday with a 144. Final 18 holes of the 54-hole tourney will be held today.

Evy Hasn't Considered Successor

Iowa City, Ia. (AP)—Speaking to newsmen on the first day of football practice at Iowa, Athletic Director Forest Evashevski denied he has recommended anyone to succeed him as head coach at the end of this season.

Evashevski, named to head the athletic department at SUI with the departure of Paul Brechler this month, will hold both that and the coaching job for the rest of the year.

He was asked about a report published in a Minneapolis newspaper that one of his assistants, Jerry Burns, will be the next coach.

Terming that report false, Evashevski said only the Board in Control of Athletics can appoint the coach.

"I can just recommend somebody," he said. "I have not given my recommendation as yet."

Only 55 players turned out for the opening of fall practice, the smallest number since Evashevski has been Iowa coach.

He said that wasn't intentional because he had invited everyone who had been out for the spring drills.

TEENERS IN ACTION

Hershey, Pa., (AP) — Three shutouts marked the opening of 5 days of National Teener Baseball competition here.

An international flavor was provided by a team from the Panama Canal zone, which defeated the Pennsylvania entry—from Dubois—2-0.

Other winners were: Gastonia, N. C., over Bossier City, La., 6-0; Elgin, Ill., over Union, N. J., 4-0, and Yankton, S. D., over Bayard, N. M., 3-2.

Hard Studies For Small Fry Questioned

By G. K. Hodenfield

Washington (AP) — Public pressure to turn the nation's grade schools into high schools for small fry may do much more harm than good, a group of educators said Thursday.

The Educational Policies Commission, representing every level of education in the country, urged particular caution in introducing foreign languages and more homework into the first 6 grades.

It also advised against trying to teach all kindergarten pupils to read. All proposals to expand the elementary school program must be weighed against the traditional functions of the school, the commission said.

The commission is sponsored by the National Education Assn. and the American Assn. of School Administrators, but it does not speak officially for either group. Its membership includes college officials, school superintendents and principals, state education officials, and others.

Unique

"Of all educational institutions, the elementary school reaches the greatest number of Americans for the longest time" and "no school affects so greatly the lives of so many Americans," the commission said in a report issued here. "Its unique potentials demand that it be treated with the greatest respect."

The commission viewed with considerable misgiving the rapid spread of foreign language instruction in elementary schools. It said "such a program, while suitable for some pupils, should not include all the children in most elementary schools."

This is in direct variance with a statement made earlier this year in another NEA publication that "preferably not later than the third grade, all children should have the opportunity to listen to and speak a second language."

This was in an NEA report on foreign languages for gifted children, which said there is no way to identify children with special foreign language abilities except to give all children such a language for a considerable period of time.

James E. Russell, secretary of the commission, said in an interview "there is no evidence to support the idea that all children should be given instruction in a foreign language, but there is considerable evidence that they shouldn't.

"It isn't easy for Americans to learn the English language, even when we grow up in an environment that is saturated with it.

"To master a foreign language takes considerable time and energy, and it is not easy at any time of life."

The commission also advised against indiscriminate assignment of homework as a way of improving elementary education.

Home Needed

"Homework usually implies a home," it said. "But some pupils live in circumstances which do not merit that name. For them, little good can come from assignments which cannot satisfactorily be completed without a home library, seclusion, time for uninterrupted study, or parent interest and cooperation."

Russell said that by "home library" the commission does not necessarily mean something elaborate, but some such things as dictionaries, encyclopedias and almanacs.

The commission acknowledged that some homework can be valuable, but it said "children also need time for rest, relaxation and play."

Some children are ready to learn to read in kindergarten, but many are not, the commission said. And, it added, "the teaching of reading to children who are neither physically nor emotionally ready for it may create frustration which may inhibit later learning."

There is no pat answer to the question of when reading instruction should start, the commission said — the program should be designed for each individual pupil.

LUMUMBA'S TROOPS SPLITTING

Leopoldville, The Congo (UPI) — Troops of Premier Patrice Lumumba's army were reported Thursday to have mutinied in several regions of the Congo where fighting continued on outlying fronts.

Heavy fighting was reported in the Bakwanga area between Congolese troops and tribal forces of Albert Kalongi, president of the "mining state" which has proclaimed independence from the republic.

Unconfirmed reports told of "slaughter" by Lumumba's soldiers firing indiscriminately at anything that moves in the Bakwanga area. One report said the troops had killed many children in a school they seized.

Representatives of the African states began a major effort to patch up relations between Lumumba and the United Nations, and to try to restore calm and stability to the violence-torn Congo.

Officials said 12 Moroccan officers would be brought into the Congo, presumably to start training and disciplining unruly Congolese soldiers.

Unconfirmed reports indicated mutiny of Congolese troops at Inongo about 400 miles northwest of here on Lake Leopold II. Another report of "grave troubles" at Banningville, 200 miles to the northeast, was said by U.N. officials to have been exaggerated.

The United Nations had reports of "some disturbances" by the Congolese army around Port Franqui and Luebo. The disturbances in many cases were caused by troops not having been paid or supplied, U.N. officials said.

There were other unofficial reports of trouble at Kikurt and Kengs, both east of here, but no details were available.

The fighting at Bakwanga in Kasai Province and other spots centered on differences between Federalist leaders Kalongi and Katanga Province President Moise Tshombe and Lumumba, who is trying to impose central control over the entire Congo.

Communications from the mining state are limited, and most reports of fighting around Bakwanga have come from amateur radio operators. These reports Thursday told of heavy fighting in and around the city.

Serge Michel, Lumumba's press aide, claimed the Congolese army commander at Bakwanga reported the city quiet, but sporadic fighting in the outskirts. Baluba tribesmen battling the Congolese army are armed with muzzle loading rifles, spears and bows and arrows.

EMERSON JONES TO REPORT ON HALLAM FACILITY IN VIENNA

Dr. Emerson Jones of Lincoln, special assistant to the general manager of Consumers Public Power District, leaves Saturday for Vienna, Austria, where he will report on Consumers nuclear power facility at Hallam to a conference of the International Atomic Energy Agency.

Earlier this year, two representatives of the International Agency visited the Hallam site. As a result of this visit Dr. Jones was invited to participate in the conference as the only American representative of an electric utility.

He will present a paper dealing mainly with contractual, technical and management problems that have been encountered by Consumers in the course of building the Hallam plant.

The International Atomic Energy Agency is an outgrowth of President Eisenhower's "Atoms For Peace" proposal presented to the United Nations. However, the agency is an independent international group with each of the 71 member nations having a representative in the general conference.

The object of the agency is to accelerate and enlarge the contribution of atomic energy to peace, health and prosperity throughout the world. It insures, as far as it is able, that its assistance is not used in such a way to further any military purpose.

The Vienna meeting is primarily intended to meet the objectives of exchanging information between qualified experts in the field of atomic energy.

Consumers Sheldon Station is unique, since it is the world's first full-scale sodium graphite reactor.

Nebraska Gets Apparent Support In Frontier Airline Feud

By Don Walton

A U.S. District Court decision in Carson City, Nev., apparently supports the position of the State of Nebraska in its continuing dispute with Frontier Airlines.

Nebraska contends that intrastate air service on Frontier's northern route is solely within the jurisdiction of the State Railway Commission.

Frontier, the state claims, cannot discontinue its northern service as authorized by the federal Civil Aeronautics Board unless the state commission also consents.

Nebraska has obtained a Dawes County District Court injunction to that effect.

The CAB has authorized Frontier to suspend service on the northern route for a 90-day period, and the airline has indicated it would halt service Sept. 15.

The U.S. District Court ruling in Carson City resulted from an action filed by Bonanza Airlines against the Nevada Public Service Commission involving a similar situation.

Bonanza curtailed its air service in Nevada last year following authorization from the CAB.

However, Nevada claimed that its public service commission held jurisdiction over intrastate service, and ordered (last October) reinstatement of full service.

Bonanza obtained a deferment of the order last Nov. 5, then took the matter to the District Court.

The prevailing ruling, issued by two members of the 3-judge court, held that Bonanza's action "fails to raise a federal question within the jurisdiction of this court."

The opinion was signed by 9th U.S. Circuit Court Judge William E. Orr and District Judge Gus J. Solomon of Portland, Ore.

Dissenting Opinion

A dissenting opinion issued by 9th U.S. Circuit Court Judge Charles M. Merrill held that "a substantial federal question was presented."

"I would accept jurisdiction and proceed to a consideration of the merits of this dispute," Judge Merrill wrote.

The decision was handed down Wednesday.

The Nevada dispute grew out of Bonanza's action in discontinuing service to Hawthorne and curtailing its service to Tonopah.

Option Given

The CAB in 1958 had authorized Bonanza to serve those two points between Reno and Phoenix, Ariz., with an option to continue or discontinue service to the two communities.

Bonanza announced its intention to cut service last August, and insisted that the subject came under the exclusive jurisdiction of the CAB.

The airline thus bypassed the Nevada Public Service Commission.

Rush Clarke of North Platte, special assistant attorney general, told The Star Thursday that he had discussed the case with Nevada Atty. Gen. Roger D. Foley.

Upshot of the Carson City ruling, Clarke said, is that the federal district court "appears to support our position" in relation to intrastate jurisdiction.

Long Battle

Sevenoaks, England (UPI) — The Kent County council gave "high priority" to construction of a $5.6 million road bypassing the town. The issue has been pending since 1927.

State Aug. 12-30 Pari-Mutuel Tax Check Is $33,397

The Nebraska State Board of Agriculture Thursday sent the State Treasurer's office a check for $33,397 representing the pari-mutuel tax on the August 12-30 races at the State Fair Grounds.

Treasurer Richard Larsen said the total amount wagered at the track was $2,669,895. Of that amount, $1 million is exempt from the 2% pari-mutuel tax.

NSEA Said Using 'Illegal Pressure'

The Nebraska School Improvement Assn., charged Thursday that "Some teachers are forced to join" the Nebraska State Education Assn., "through undue pressure and illegal means."

With the opening of school this week, county superintendents have sent directives to teachers and school board secretaries pressuring teachers to join the NSEA, NSIA Field Secretary S. H. Brauer Jr. said.

Past NSIA action "was only successful to the point of driving their (NSEA) imaginative leadership to devise a new and more complex approach, but just as illegal, to force unwilling teachers to join," Brauer charged.

The NSEA is "aided and abetted" by the State Department of Education and "an overwhelming majority of the city and county superintendents," he said.

This condition, Brauer alleged, "can only be viewed as, and is, an absolute and indefensible violation of individual human rights and freedom."

STOCK MARKET IRREGULAR, UP

New York (AP)—Hectic trading in lower-priced issues featured an irregularly higher stock market Thursday. Trading was fairly active.

It was the market's second straight labored advance after a series of four setbacks.

Volume rose to 3,460,000 shares from 3,130,000 Wednesday.

Once again the two "problem children" of the New York Stock Exchange took the spotlight. This time, however, Telautograph and Comptometer were swamped with sellers, not buyers as they have been all this week.

Both issues could not be traded until about noon, then dealings proceeded only a few minutes before they halted again. Just before the closing bell exchange officials matched enough orders to put together huge final blocks.

Telautograph was down 5¼ at 19¼ on 40,000 shares and Comtometer was down 7 at 23 on 42,000 shares.

The Dow Jones industrial average rose .11 to 626.10.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose .40 to 220.80 with the industrials up .40, the rails unchanged and the utilities up .40.

Of 1,178 issues traded, 532 advanced and 419 declined. New highs for the year totaled 57 and new lows 16.

American Stock Exchange prices were mostly higher as volume rose to 1,590,000 shares from Wednesday's 1,530,000.

Corporate bonds were mixed as volume improved.

Bond volume increased to $4,450,000 par value from Wednesday's $3,900,000, the lowest for a non-holiday session in 1960.

GRAINS RECOVER

Chicago (AP)—The grain futures market Thursday mustered its first general advance of the week with wheat, corn and rye posting gains of major fractions or more on several contracts.

Brokers said the recovery appeared to have been linked partly at least with the absence of additional notices to deliver grains on September contracts.

Offerings Wednesday were heavy in both wheat and oats and most of the wheat was retendered. Of the more than three million bushels of wheat posted for delivery about two million was reoffered, knocking the open interest down sharply and removing a good deal of pressure from the short side of the market.

At the close wheat was unchanged to 1 cent a bushel higher, September $1.85⅝-⅝; corn ¼-¾ higher, September $1.14¼; oats unchanged to ⅝ lower, September 64½; rye ½-1½ higher, September $1.13½; soybeans ¼ higher to ⅛ lower, September $2.14⅛.

Congressmen Head To Races

Washington (AP) — One hundred Senators and approximately 437 House members were released for full time political campaigning Thursday when Congress adjourned.

They began fanning out to all sections of the country to preach the Democratic doctrine and the GOP gospel.

The two rival presidential contenders, Democratic Sen. John F. Kennedy and Republican Vice President Richard M. Nixon, will not be far behind.

Kennedy planned a warm-up tour of New England Friday before jumping off for Alaska Saturday and the start of his formal campaign.

Nixon, laid up in a Washington hospital with an infected knee, studied roadmaps and timetables for a campaign trip starting Sept. 12. This will take him on a 6-day, 9,000-mile swing through 14 states from coast to coast.

At a leave-taking news conference in Washington, Kennedy announced the appointment of Sen. Joseph S. Clark of Pennsylvania and Rep. Emanuel Celler of New York as a committee to draft comprehensive civil rights legislation for the next session of Congress.

"We pledge action to obtain consideration of a civil rights bill by the Senate early next session that will implement the pledges of the Democratic platform," Kennedy said.

He accused Republican leaders of trying to block action on minimum wage, medical care for the aged, housing and education bills at the congress session just ended.

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, a preconvention adversary of Nixon, called on the GOP standard-bearer at Walter Reed Army Hospital and then announced he will make a cross country campaign tour for the Republican ticket.

Plans for Nixon's first extended campaign trip, which will take him to Indianapolis, Dallas and San Francisco the first day, were announced by the vice president's press secretary, Herbert G. Klein. Klein said the fixing of definite dates starting Sept. 12 was an indication of how well Nixon has been recovering from his knee injury.

Also in Washington:

Former President Harry S. Truman predicted the Republicans are going to be "the best-licked outfit you ever saw" . .. House Republican leaders Charles A. Halleck of Indiana said that if the post-convention session of Congress was designed to put the Democratic presidential ticket into orbit "it fizzled out on the launching platform." . . . Sen. John J. Sparkman (D-Ala) said religious and racial issues may cost Kennedy some Southern states, but he believes most of the South will go Democratic.

It's Moving Day For Family Service

Family Service Assn. workers spent Thursday moving into their newly-completed quarters at 1133 H, and plan to be settled and open for regular business by Tuesday following the Labor Day weekend. The 70-year-old welfare organization has been housed at 228 So. 10th since the building was built in 1904. The So. 10th St. building, one of the old Lincoln landmarks, wil be razed to provide for additional space in an adjoining parking lot. PENNSY STATION 'GHOSTVILLE'

By Hal McClure

New York (AP) — Mammoth Pennsylvania Station stood bleak and alone Thursday, a cavernous tomb-like hull.

"It's ghostville here, man," sighed a disgruntled bootblack.

Ordinarily, 200,000 persons a day crowd its waiting rooms, concourses and shops. But Thursday, because of the Pennsylvania Railroad strike, it was almost deserted.

Thick piles of newspapers waited at newsstands for readers who didn't come.

In dining rooms and at lunch counters, waitresses stood lonely guard in a sea of gleaming table linen — also waiting for diners who didn't appear.

A phalanx of ticket counters stood deserted, the usual long queues of travelers missing.

Television monitors on the counter — used to expedite ticket sales and reservations — were turned off, their glass faces staring blankly.

There were no raucous train calls, only soft music came over the station loudspeakers.

Never Before

"I've been here 25 years," said guard Thomas Crickard, "and I've never seen it like this at this time of day. Normally, the walls are bulgin'."

And that's the way it went throughout the 28-acre station, normally one of the busiest in the United States. Already many of the station shops had closed or planned to close.

One concourse candy shop had planned to open Thursday, but instead carried this announcement: "gala opening postponed because of strike."

Hardest hit were travelers trying to get to their homes in the south — because there were no trains running direct over Pennsy's strike-bound tracks between here and Washington. PRR is the only rail passenger link between New York and Washington.

Idle

Pennsylvania's congressional limiteds stood idle and Seaboard Airlines and Atlantic Coast Lines passengers got no farther North than Washington.

Travelers aid came to the rescue of many southbound travelers who came here on roundtrip tickets and hadn't enough money to get to Washington and connecting trains.

Long lines of thwarted rail customers jammed the Greyhound bus station across the street from Penn Station. Others departed for northern and western points from the New York Central's Grand Central station across town or from airports.

Most of the station's few occupants were only curious and had wandered in to "see what it's like" or didn't know a strike was on.

One Baltimore priest visited the station twice Thursday. "I thought I'd never get another chance to see it this way," he said.

Pension Plan Founder, Dr. F. Townsend, Dies

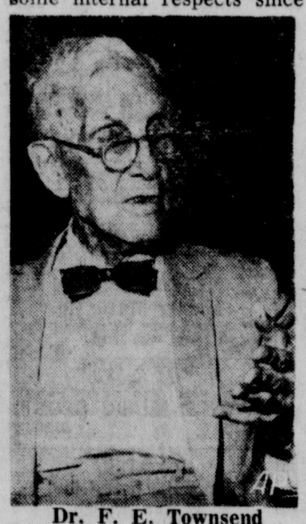

Los Angeles (AP) — Dr. Francis E. Townsend, 93, founder of and old age pension plan that bore his name, died Thursday in St. Vincent's Hospital.

The pension leader's physician ascribed death to pneumonia, plus the complications of old age.

Dr. Townsend's plan called for a $200-a-month pension for everyone who would retire at 60.

Under Townsend's plan the pension money was to be spent the same time it was received so as to insure velocity of circulation. To finance a pension, the plan provided for a 2% tax on all business transactions.

The plan has changed in some internal respects since its inception in 1936 but Dr. Townsend kept it basically the same.

Dr. F. E. Townsend

Membership dropped off some years ago, after he withdrew from the glamor of Washington to the quieter but no less active role of tightening his organization's ranks. By 1940 the movement was on the ascendant again. By 1944 it had 12,000 chartered clubs, some of which had 2,000 members and non less than 35. All retain the sociable aspects which characterized their beginning.

In its later form the plan was popularly tagged "$60 at 60." There was no set maximum a pensioner could receive, since payments would be based upon a 3% gross income tax levied against every employed person, and the pension would vary accordingly.

To Dr. Townsend the program was not so much a pension plan as a means of eliminating aging workers from jobs which he thought younger people should have to maintain a progressive balance between production and employment.

The slim, wiry Dr. Townsend, meticulously dressed even to high stiff collar and cuffbuttons in summertime. His sure step and the professionally scrubbed appearance of most physicians all belied his age. His long sensitive fingers moved constantly as he talked.

"I look upon this as only the first step," he said. "Why should we tax property? A gross income tax is the direct reflector of business and production as a whole, and its simpler. Why shouldn't it ultimately replace all other taxes, fluctuating in accord with national income?

Ownership of property, receipt of annuities or other income payments would not disqualify any pension applicant, nor would any be required to give up savings accumulated during earlier years.

Principal opposition to the plan came from those who feared it would pyramid taxes and, in consequence, living costs, ultimately lowering the standard of living if it did not actually cause a complete collapse of the tax structure. Dr. Townsend held that much of the opposition was purely political; that money is only a means of exchange and that by taking old people out of employment and keeping younger people in jobs the standard of living automatically would rise.

Particularly encouraging throughout his long campaign, the doctor often said, was the presence of younger persons in the Townsend ranks. "These," he said, "Remember the last depression vividly enough to look upon their prospects with some apprehension. They are evincing wide interest in the Townsend National Recovery Plan, which we may look upon as a program of mutual citizen insurance.

Dr. Townsend, in later years, spent more time at home, working in his garden.

"To live a long and active life," the doctor once said, "you've got to keep vitally interested. You can't remain healthy if you're worried or bored. Boredom kills more old people than anything else, except, possibly, insecurity."

Boy Of 13 And His Cigarette Blamed For A Forest Fire

Auburn, Calif. (UPI) — Sheriff William Scott said Thursday a team of investigators has blamed a cigarette-smoking 13-year-old boy for a forest fire that blackened 45,000 acres and cost nearly $2.5 million in timber and watershed losses.

The boy, identified only as a San Francisco resident, told state and federal investigators he was smoking in the tinder-dry Three Queens mine area last month when the fire broke out.

"I tossed my cigarettes away in the underbrush and later there were a lot of flames right there," the boy told investigators.

Investigators recommended that no charges be filed against the boy because of his age and because there was insufficient evidence.

School Integration Delay Refused By Highest Court

. . . IN NEW ORLEANS AND HOUSTON

Washington (UPI) — The Supreme Court refused Thursday to halt scheduled racial integration of first grade classes in New Orleans and Houston. School boards of both cities promptly said they would obey the ruling.

The court, acting on 3 racial integration cases, also declined to interfere with a lower court order directing the admission of at least 22 Negro students into the Wilmington, Del., schools at every grade level this month.

Petitions Filed

In the Louisiana and Texas cases, the high court struck down petitions filed Thursday by attorneys for the state of Louisiana and the Houston independent school district.

Both petitions sought to block integration of the first grade classes. The court did uphold one lower court order postponing the start of New Orleans integration from Sept. 6 until Nov. 14.

In New Orleans, Parish School Board Chairman Lloyd Rittiner said the board will be able to work out some kind of plan for integration on Nov. 14.

Rittiner was pleased at the court's decision, which was confirmation of a 65-day-old lower court ruling ordering school integration.

NAACP Attorney A. P. Tureaud indicated in New Orleans that the number of Negroes wanting to enter first grade in white schools probably will be less than a hundred.

In Houston, the court's decision was accepted "under protest and duress" by Dr. Henry A. Petersen, chairman of the city's school board. He said, however, that Houston's public schools will be integrated next week. Seven negroes have tried to register in previously all-white first grade classes.

The Dames allege Mrs. Dame was injured when the car in which she was riding was involved in a collision Aug. 7 with a car driven by Richard Monahan and owned by his wife. The accident occurred 8 miles east of Lincoln on US 34.

'Old Guard' Just Getting Degree

Chicago (AP) — Friday is graduation day for Ashby Carlyle Blackwell—after 38 years of pecking away at the University of Chicago for a Doctorate of Philosophy in Chemistry.

Blackwell is dean of the chemistry department at Morris Harvey College in Charleston, W.Va.

He is 64 and a grandfather. Which means, university officials reckon, he's set a few records. They think he is the oldest man to ever take a degree at Chicago, has taken a longer time to do it than anyone else and has traveled more miles—commuting from Charleston—than any other student.

Fairgrounds Mosquitoes Are Sprayed

"Death to mosquitoes" was the battlecry at the State Fairgrounds as workers conducted a 3rd spraying campaign on the eve of the opening of the State Fair.

Fair Board Secretary Ed Schultz said that the mosquito problem on the fairgrounds "is no worse than any place else in Lincoln," but that spraying is expected to decimate the mosquito crop before the paying customers arrive Saturday.

Crews sprayed the grounds twice earlier in the week, and made an all-out effort Thursday which took them into the early hours of the morning Friday.

The mosquitoes are probably coming into the fairgrounds area from the swampy fields to the north and east of the fairgrounds.

A Real Brother

Pontefract, England (UPI)—British army soldier Ron Hughes, on leave from service in Germany, applied for 3 days in the guardhouse at the army camp here. The army refused the request. Hughes' younger brother, Barry, a recruit, was serving 10 days behind bars for a minor infraction of rules and Ron wanted to stay with him.

Peterson Believes Dr. Hungate's Criticism Of Board Was Ill-Timed

By Betty Person

Harold Peterson, vice chairman of the Board of Control, said Thursday evening he believed that Dr. Vernon Hungate's criticism of the Board of Control would have been more properly made had it been submitted prio. to his resignation.

Hungate, who announced his resignation August 1, effective September 1, as educational director of the Board of Control, Thursday released to the press a criticism of the Board as being "outmoded and inefficient" and recommended that the Legislature change the system.

A policy making board with functions similar to the State Boards of Education, Health or Regents may be the answer, Hungate said in a letter to Board of Control Chairman Charles Leeman who is at Denver attending a conference.

Urges Change

"I sincerely trust that the Nebraska Unicameral will change this system which permits politics, friendship or personal bias to enter educational relationships with handicapped children, juvenile delinquents or any state wards," Hungate wrote Leeman.

Peterson said he had not yet received a copy of the report Hungate submitted to the board concerning specific suggestions for the educational program in the various institutions, but that he would study it when it was available and comment upon it.

"If he was going to submit a statement of that kind, it should have been submitted before he resigned," Peterson said.

Hungate resigned to become dean of the graduate college of Adams State College at Alamosa, Colorado.

Hungate told Leeman he wished to express his appreciation to him for his "fine cooperation" during his employment as education director.

"Your attempts to make the Board 'policy making' rather than 'administrative' have enabled us to make progress in the educational programs," Hungate wrote Leeman.

'Failures' Cited

His letter also gave illustrations of "how the Board has failed to carry out recommendations which I consider to be educationally sound."

One involved the setting up in June, 1959 of a health evaluation program at the Cozad School for Trainable Retarded Children in cooperation with the State Health Department.

It included services of a trained pediatrician and nutritionist "at no additional cost from Board of Control funds," Hungate said. But plans "were suddenly dropped on July 30, 1959" without discussion with either him or the Health Department.

Accreditation Incident

Another incident involved Hungate's efforts to bring accreditation, approval or recognition to education programs at 7 state institutions. Six other institutions were approved or accredited by the State Department of Education.

He said he asked for permission to request assistance from the Education Department in evaluating the programs and for advice on "some type of 'approval'," but was later told the board decided "not to ask the State Department of Education for help . . ."

"To me this was an indication that the Board was not particularly desirous of maintaining their educational programs on a par with those in Nebraska Public Schools," Hungate said.

The former director also said he was ordered to "stay away" from the Orthopedic Hospital at Lincoln "where the lack of a school principal to direct and coordinate the program and the lack of salary adjustments for teachers are quite apparent."

He said also that he was "not permitted to work with the Hastings State Hospital in an attempt to assist in providing educational services, even though you as chairman had approved a preliminary visit."

Miss Stukel, County Welfare Head, Resigns Unexpectedly

Mayme Stukel unexpectedly submitted her resignation Thursday as director of the Lancaster County Division of public Welfare.

Miss Stukel

Miss Stukel had held the $7,200 a year post since 1956 and for 3 years prior to that was state assistance director. The resignation is effective Oct. 1.

She said she has no definite future plans.

'No Friction'

Both Miss Stukel, 49, and members of the County Board said her resignation was not prompted by any friction between them. The board appoints the welfare director.

Commissioners Rollin Bailey, Kenneth Bourne and Ralph Harlan issued a joint statement saying they accepted her resignation with "deep regret."

The board said Miss Stukel has given "invaluable service to Lancaster County and its citizens. Her work has been of the highest quality and of the greatest efficiency."

'No Idea'

Bailey said the board has no idea who it will appoint as her replacement. John Reitfors is assistant welfare director.

A graduate of the University of Minnesota and a native of Chisholm, Minn., Miss Stukel started as a child welfare worker in Cass and Otoe counties in 1938 and in 1940 she was named Otoe County welfare director.

In 1942 she became field supervisor for the state assistance department and was named state assistance director by former Gov. Robert Crosby in 1953.

PO Asking College View Station Bids

O. E. Jerner, Lincoln postmaster, said Thursday he had been advised by Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield that the Post Office Department is now asking for bids to build and lease to the department a new Post Office for College View Station to replace existing facilities at 4724 Prescott Ave,

Closing date for the bids for the proposed building, which will be located on the north side of Calvert between 47th and 48th streets, is close of business November 4, 1960.

Specifications

Specifications call for a structure containing 4,262 square feet of floor space, 4,680 square feet of driveway, parking and maneuvering area, 591.5 square feet platform space, 249 square feet covered entrance area, 150 square feet ramp area, 200 square feet sidewalk, and 4,038 square feet of landscaped area.

Jerner said the Post Office Department will enter into a lease agreement with the successful bidder which will run for 10 years, with renewal options.

Bids should be submitted to Ronald N. Gass, Real Estate Officer, Post Office Box 992, room 204 Post Office building, Omaha.

Brooks' Office Cites Labor Day Dangers

A last-minute reminder of the highway dangers of the Labor Day weekend was issued Thursday from the office of Gov. Ralph Brooks.

"I am hopeful that our good record of 1959 will be surpassed and that we will equal our record of 1936 in which Nebraska recorded no traffic fatalities during the Labor Day weekend," the governor's statement said.

"Traffic is expected to be exceedingly heavy. Thousands of motorists are enjoying one last holiday before school starts. Children are returning to school in many areas. All of these point to dangerous traffic situations. These are the dangers which we seek to minimize by alert and widespread, effective law enforcement," he continued.

4-Death Average.

Robert Conrad, administrative assistant to the governor and chairman of the Governor's Traffic Safety Committee, reminded that over the past 10 years the Labor Day weekend has proved fatal for an average of 4 persons each year.

"The years of greatest tragedy were 1939, 1950 and 1954 each taking 7 lives .. the years of 1949 and 1952 resulted in 6 deaths each," Conrad said.

Noting the 1936 death-free Labor Day weekend, Conrad said that with "complete cooperation from all Nebraska motorists and alert law enforcement to minimize the dangers presented by careless drivers, Nebraska hopes to equal its 1936 record."

In 1959, the Labor Day weekend saw 285 accidents recorded with 165 persons injured, two of which proved to be fatal.
